Republicans Attempt to Offset Impression of Distress in Farm Areas

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1926, Post. Pub.

Washington — "Prosperity," the good slogan that has won many a campaign in the past for both the Democratic and Republican parties is to be the dominant issue of the congressional campaign which is just beginning. Along with it goes "economy" but the difficulties of explaining the latter on the stump and its lack of dramatic value has made it secondary.

Basically, the Republican party is going to the country to ask for continuance in power on the ground that it is better to "let well enough alone." Except for spots here and there in the agricultural areas the claims of the Republican leaders is that the nation is uniformly prosperous. To offset the impression that there is "distress in the farm areas, the strategists of the campaign have been working overtime. They think it is most important to change the public impression about what has been happening and is happening in the west. While the corn belt leaders have been arguing for farm relief, the Republican campaign committee has been urging President Coolidge and others to give due publicity to the rather favorable conditions which are seen in large sections of the west.

PROSPERITY PROPAGANDA

Every high official of the government who comes back from the west comes out with an interview that conditions are much better than had been described. President Coolidge himself has had letters from important business leaders in the west telling of the favorable economic conditions there. Instead of giving out these letters for publication, Mr. Coolidge has invited some of the writers thereof to come to Paul Smith's where a group of correspondents is eager to write what ever they will say. This gives it added emphasis because anything that happens at the doorstep of a president of the United States gets more publicity than interviews given elsewhere.

The Democrats are envious of all this publicity, but they themselves when in power had some strategists at work planting interviews at the White House doors for the political effect that could be derived therefrom, so the answer can be given that the whole process is a legitimate part of the political game.

Mr. Coolidge has had a series of visitors beginning with Edsel Ford, who is presumed to know from the sale of autos what is happening in the farm areas. He has scheduled for later in the season other callers who know economic and business conditions. Mr. Hoover's report on the business outlook made after careful study of data available here is counted on by the Republican workers to be convincing evidence of their claim that the nation is truly prosperous.

CUT U. S. BUDGET

General Lord, director of the budget, has made his usual trip to the summer White House to go over the estimates. This he is obliged to do in order to get ready for September revisions. His visit yielded the information that estimates had again been cut, all of which emphasizes the economy of the administration.

Mr. Coolidge has not yet let it be known what part he personally will play in aiding individual members of congress to be re-elected, but his general policy for assisting in the election of a Republican congress is already in operation. It consists in emphasizing the prosperous condition of the country so that the country will not develop a mood for change as they are in congress. Generally speaking, the Democrats are anxious to make gains but privately they, too, would prefer that the responsibility for the conduct of congress shall rest with the Republican party for another two years so that in 1928 when the whole four years record is examined there can be no cry that the Democrats had control, of one or even two houses of congress, and thus blocked legislative progress.

CALLES WON'T AGREE TO PLEA OF CATHOLICS

Episcopate Debates Whether to Appeal to Congress or Supreme Court

Mexico City — (AP) — The Catholic episcopate began careful study Friday of the question whether it shall petition congress to ameliorate the religious regulations which have caused a cessation of masses and other ceremonies in the Catholic church or whether it shall make an appeal to the supreme court to pass upon the question of the validity of the religious provisions of the constitution.

This step is being taken following receipt by Archbishop Mora Y. Del Rio of a letter from President Calles in answer to request from the episcopate for a suspension of the regulations. The president in his letter informed the archbishop that he purposed to uphold the constitution as it relates to churches and declined because of his "political and philosophical convictions" to request congress to amend the fundamental law. The president suggests that if the episcopate desires any modification of the law that it may have recourse in an attempt to have congress change it or appeal to the supreme court for relief. He says that if the episcopate should introduce an amendment bill in congress, he will not use his presidential prerogative to have it withdrawn.

The boat sailed the nine miles windward and leeward course on Lake Winnebago in 2:05:43, winning the Commodore Davis cup and setting itself up as tentative champion of the Inland Lakes Yachting association. QUEEN MARIE TO VISIT U. S. DURING FALL

Most Beautiful Member of European Royalty Expects to See Each State

Paris — (AP) — The people of the United States soon are to see one of the most handsome and astute members of European royalty, "Queen Marie of Rumania."

At the end of next month the Queen will leave for New York. It is her hope to visit each of the 48 states of the union and probably the chief cities of Canada. She will not adopt an incognito but will travel as a queen. Therefore she will be unable to visit the homes of citizens as a formal guest and will put up at hotels, except when in Washington, where she probably will lodge at the Rumanian legation.

She desires to travel through the United States much by automobile so that she may obtain an intimate view of American life.

It is probable she will spend her fifty-first birthday in the United States. This falls on Oct. 29.

King Ferdinand, the Queen's husband is taking a little vacation in France.

As he purposes after leaving Paris to visit Switzerland and Italy he may not be able to get back to Bucharest in time to say farewell to the Queen.

Pay Tribute to Melville E. Stone at Public Session of News Agencies

Geneva — (AP) — Speakers at Friday's public session of the conference of representatives of news agencies under the auspices of the League of Nations paid tribute to Melville E. Stone, for many years general manager of the Associated Press and now its counsellor.

Elmer Roberts, representing the Associated Press who introduced a resolution advocating international recognition of property rights in news described Mr. Stone's work in securing legal protection of news in the United States. He told how Mr. Stone, with the support of the directors and members of the Associated Press won their cause and how the seal of approval was finally given by the supreme court.

Roy Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps Howard newspapers said that he believed Mr. Stone's contribution in establishing the property right in news was the greatest single achievement in American journalism during the last generation.

The resolution introduced by Mr. Roberts recommends that governments accept the following principles: "First, that news as a business commodity is property; second, that this property right does not expire with the mere first appearance of news either in a newspaper or in a bulletin board, but continues and is not subject to being realized by its owner; third, that violation of this property right is a criminal offense."

Mr. Howard introduced an amendment to the resolution, offered by Mr. Roberts that property right shall not apply to official news and communications emanating from governments, these should be considered the property of the entire public, the right to which cannot be restricted to any single newspaper or news agency. The amendment said that property right should apply, however, to news of a governmental character which may have been obtained solely as the result of individual initiative and enterprise by a newspaper or news agency.

PAYS $800 FINE FOR TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

Racine — A fine of $800 and costs and the confiscation of an automobile worth $2,000 was imposed on Adam Cibas, Racine, in municipal court by Judge E. R. Burgess when Cibas entered a plea of guilty to the charge of transporting liquor.

Cibas was arrested Tuesday afternoon when a motorcycle deputy saw him driving down the Racine-Kenosha road at 50 miles an hour. The deputy sheriff was unable to catch up with the speeder until the car went into the ditch and caught fire. Then the officer, in attempting to extinguish the blaze, smelled alcohol and found two 5-gallon jugs of moonshine.

In court, Cibas said that some unidentified man had given him the two jugs to deliver in Kenosha but he could not remember the names or addresses of these persons; so the court fined him $500 for transporting liquor and $300 for less than transporting and the automobile was ordered confiscated because the accused man was unable to tell how he had acquired the car.

New York — (AP) — Federal Judge Manton Friday granted the application of William V. Dwyer, head of an alleged gigantic rum ring operating on land and sea, for release on bail pending the outcome of his appeal from the conviction in federal court for conspiring to violate the prohibition law. His bail was fixed at $50,000.

Bail for E. C. Cohron, paymaster of the alleged ring, convicted with Dwyer, was fixed at $25,000.

Judge Manton in granting a writ of error, thereby giving Dwyer admission to bail, said that "within the case there was debatable question which at least formulated a reasonable doubt as to whether the conviction will stand."

CONVICT MAN OF MURDERING HIS DAUGHTER

Wallace Cloyes Gaines Seated Gets Hanging Verdict in Notorious Case

Seattle, Wn. — (AP) — Wallace Cloyes Gaines, charged with slaying his daughter Sylvia, faced the gallows Friday. He was convicted of first degree murder in superior court here Thursday night and the jury fixed the penalty at death by hanging.

As the verdict was returned the prisoner collapsed but quickly regained his composure leaving the courtroom under guard with the nonchalance of a spectator.

"It sure was a body blow" was his only comment regarding the jury's decision.

A fight to save their client's life was immediately launched by Gaines' attorneys. They presented motions for an arrest of judgment and for a new trial.

"The conviction of Gaines brought a close to a trial that has attracted more attention than any other criminal proceeding in the history of Seattle. The state's evidence was largely circumstantial."

DIRECT EVIDENCE

Sylvia, 22 years old, graduate of Smith college, Northampton, Mass., was killed the night of June 16. Her body was found the next morning on the shore of a lake about two miles from the Gaines' home. She came to Seattle last September from the home of her mother, Mrs. H. E. Maynard of Lynn Field, Mass., after a 16 year separation from her father. Gaines had been a resident of Seattle since he returned from the war suffering from ill effects of his service.

With the finding of the slain girl her father came forward as one of the leaders in the search for her murderer. He was arrested and charged with her death during a coroner's inquest, in which a scrutiny was made of his movement the night of the killing.

The state contended that the girl was killed as the result of an attempt to end her part of an unnatural relationship with her father.

Gaines denied absolutely that he killed his daughter.

QUARREL NOT RELATED TO CHURCH ROW

Rivalry Between Factions in Congress Ends in Street Battle

Mexico City — (AP) — Bitter rivalry between political factions in congress has culminated in a pitched street battle with fatalities.

Colonel Andreas Garcia and Deputy Marcus Diaz were killed Thursday and Deputy Santiago Caparrosa was shot several times through the body. Several bystanders also were wounded.

Politicians have been disputing the results of the congressional election held in July, and a guard of federal troops have been stationed in the chamber to prevent reactions from combat.

The religious situation has been in no way connected with the strife.

Fighting started Thursday afternoon in front of the Iturbide hotel in Madero-ave in the business section. A number of deputies—estimated at from seven to 20—began shooting at one another from opposite sidewalks.

The street was crowded with pedestrians and automobiles.

Many shots were exchanged.

U. S. WOMEN PRESENT

The fighting was next door to one of Mexico City's fashionable, "American tea rooms." A number of American women were inside.

The shooting began when former Governor Garrido and a party of friends encountered a group of political enemies on Madero-ave, which to Mexico City is what Fifth Avenue is to New York. Colonel Garcia was instantly killed. Deputy Diaz died several hours later from his wounds.

Deputy Caparrosa is at the point of death at a hospital.

Garrido for a long time has been one of the stormy petrels in Mexico politics. Several months ago during a visit to Mexico City an unsuccessful attempt was made by political enemies to assassinate him.

State Rail Officials Deny Indorsing Blaine Campaign

Madison — (AP) — Indorsement of Governor John J. Blaine's candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination which is being transmitted to railroad workers in Wisconsin came from national officers of the "Big Four" brotherhoods and several affiliated railroad labor organizations.

R. F. Green, chairman of the state legislative board of the brotherhoods, explained here Friday.

The explanation was made in connection with a message from S. L. J. Barton, secretary of the state legislative board of the brotherhood of railway trainmen, to the Superior telegraph from Calumet, Minn., saying a recent item from Madison reporting "Big Four indorsing Blaine for senator is an error."

"Blaine is not indorsed by legislative board of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen," the message read. "Indorsement must have come from political appointees of Governor Blaine affiliated with the Big Four."

The letter of indorsement made public by Mr. Green was received at his headquarters here from the national legislative and information bureau of the railroad unions at Washington and is signed with the names of W. N. Doak, vice president of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen; William Clark, vice president of the order of railway conductors; H. E. Willis, assistant grand chief, brotherhood of locomotive engineers; C. J. Goff, vice president, brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, and representatives of several other railroad labor organizations.

FIGHT BATTLE OVER BAIL IN MURDER CASE

Seek Release of Mrs. Hall's Brother and Cousin Held on Slaying Charge

Somerville, N. J. — (AP) — The next legal battle in the Hall Mills murder case will begin the question of bail for the woman and two men charged with the murder of the "New Brunswick" actor and his choir leader four years ago.

Counsel for Henry de La Briere Carpenter and Willie Stevens in jail here awaiting the action of the grand jury have announced that they will apply Monday for the prisoners' release on bail.

Senator Simpson, the state's attorney, has said that he will oppose bail for them and ask revocation of the $15,000 bail of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the slain clergyman's widow, who is also accused of the murders.

Judge Cleary of the court of common pleas formerly committed Stevens and Carpenter to jail Thursday after hearing more than 60 witnesses, in four days. Mrs. Hall obtained bail shortly after arrest, but the prosecution declined to reveal the evidence against her. Senator Simpson declined to say whether he would ask for a special grand jury.

JARDINE TO REPORT

Senator Capper Declares Coolidge Sentiment Is Strong in Western States

Paul Smith, N. Y. — (AP) — Varying views on farm legislation proposals were presented at the summer executive offices Friday by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, chairman of the board of Sears Roebuck and Co., guests at the summer white house. President Coolidge has an engagement to receive Secretary Jardine of the department of agriculture at the White Pine camp Saturday.

Both Mr. Capper and Mr. Rosenwald agreed substantially in their reports of the business and economic conditions of the country but while the senator spoke in approval of the price stabilization plan contained in the defeated McNary Haugen farm relief bill price stabilization plan was bound to end in a "vicious circle."

LAUD ECONOMY

The Republican party Senator Capper predicted, will suffer few setbacks in the congressional elections this fall. He declared President Coolidge was strong in the west, which approved his economy program, while being "disappointed somewhat" that he did not support the McNary Haugen program.

While Mr. Rosenwald declined to discuss politics, he expressed the opinion that reports of "agitation" against the president in the west had been exaggerated that the farmers "now feel differently" about Mr. Coolidge and that he is stronger than ever with the people everywhere. Mr. Rosenwald approved strongly plans to strengthen the cooperative marketing movement in the country, while Senator Capper declared its importance was recognized but other steps were necessary.

Mr. Rosenwald reports a prosperous business condition throughout the country except in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Home Fruit Canning Is Becoming A "Lost Art"

About half as many women can fruit now as did in the preceding generation and they scarcely can half the quantity that their mothers were in the habit of preserving. The current explanations for this condition are: Fresh fruits and vegetables may be purchased the year around and are preferred to the canned article, commercially canned fruit is frequently better as well as cheaper, and women of the present generation refuse to expend the necessary time and effort to put up fruit and vegetables.

Peaches are the most popular fruit for canning, although very few families use more than a crate. Peaches are next in favor, with strawberries and blueberries not far behind in public esteem. Grapes and crab-apples are sold for jams and jellies but every year the demand is smaller, apparently people don't consume the quantity they did formerly. Very few tomatoes or cucumbers are sold for canning purposes although large quantities of commercially prepared ketchup, chili sauce and pickles are sold in the stores. The fad for canning vegetables has died down in cities although it continues to some extent on farms.

DEMAND CONVENIENCES
People who do can use the most up to date devices for saving labor and insuring the quality of their fruit. The ordinary equipment is a quantity of glass covered pint jars, ladle with long handle large shallow aluminum or granite kettles, wrenches for tightening covers and individual jar holders to be used for the cold pack canning, jelly strainers and funnels with large mouths are also to be found in numerous kitchens. Although pressure cookers are not essential to successfully use the cold pack method, they insure certain results.

The majority of people use the open kettle, cold pack or even bake method of canning. The open kettle way was used almost exclusively a generation ago. It consists of cooking the fruit with the right proportion of sugar on top of the stove and when done pouring in cans and screwing on the lids both of which have been previously sterilized. In the cold pack which is the most popular method at present the fruit is prepared and packed very solidly into jars. A syrup, the consistency of which is a matter of individual taste is then poured over the fruit or it may be canned without sugar, then cold water alone is added. The caps and rubbers are put on loosely to allow steam to escape and the jars are placed in holders or some contrivance to keep the jar from touching the bottom of the vessel they are to be boiled in. Then the jars are placed in a boiler or vessel which is filled with water to the neck of the cans. The water is brought to the boiling point and kept boiling for 20 minutes in the case of peaches and most other fruits although 15 minutes is enough for berries or cherries. The vessel in which the jars are boiled must be covered tightly to keep in as much steam as possible. When the fruit has been boiled the required time remove it and tighten the covers. A regulated oven is almost essential to can by the bake method. The fruit is packed in jars and a boiling syrup is poured over it, then the rubbers and covers are loosely adjusted. The bottom of the oven should be covered with a sheet of asbestos. When the oven is moderately hot put the fruit in and bake from 10 to 15 minutes. When the fruit is removed take off the covers and add enough boiling syrup to completely fill the cans, then tightly adjust the covers. Preserved by this method the fruit retains its shape color and flavor better than when cooked in an open kettle.

W. C. T. U. PREPARES TO BATTLE RUM REFERENDUM

Should the state supreme court rule in favor of a referendum on prohibition modification in the November election, as ordered in a resolution adopted by the 1925 legislature, the Women's Christian Temperance Union will send many speakers into Wisconsin to work for prohibition. That decision was reached at a meeting in Chicago of leaders of the W. C. T. U. The same plan will be followed in all states where a referendum on modification is to be held.

J. H. Hartman, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, has not been officially notified to what extent the W. C. T. U. will work here. The union he says, has an organization of its own, and would conduct its own campaign. The Anti-Saloon league will announce no campaign plans until the supreme court has ruled on an action to prevent the referendum being held. The hearing on that action has been set for Sept. 18.

TRAVELING MEN EAGER TO MAKE THEIR HOMES HERE

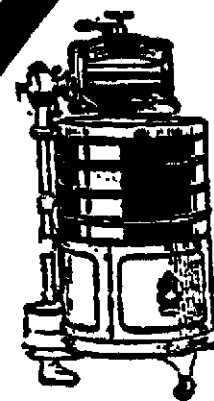

More travelling and commercial men are planning to make Appleton their permanent future home, than ever before, real estate dealers say. One firm reported that it had more than 20 applications in the past two weeks from traveling men who desire to rent or buy homes here. All dealers say that they have an extraordinary number of similar applications. Nearly all of the traveling men say that they have looked over practically all of the cities in the state of the same size as Appleton. The people here are more hospitable and courteous, the streets and parks are cleaner and prettier and the homes and dwellings are located in fine neighborhoods.

In two Irish countries, Fermanagh and Tyrone, the men outnumber the women by 6,000.

10,000 COPIES OF LABOR PAPER SENT TO COUNTY

Railroad Federation Has Indorsed Blaine for U. S. Senator.

Word has been received by Samuel Sigman, secretary of the Farmer-Labor league, that the four brotherhoods of railroad workmen have indorsed Governor John J. Blaine for senator. The brotherhood is preparing a special edition of 500,000 copies of Labor, their official paper which is printed at Washington, D. C., for shipment to Wisconsin. One shipment of 10,000 papers will be received in Appleton for Outagamie county either Friday or Saturday and they will be placed in the hands of every voter.

Invitations have been issued by the league to all the voters in the county to attend a meeting of the Farmer-Labor league on Saturday evening at Trades and Labor hall. Efforts to make this one of the largest meetings ever held here are being made. The letters urge all members to make a special drive to bring voters to the meeting. Fred Bachman, Appleton, president of the league is to preside. At the last meeting of the league a ticket of state and national candidates for office was indorsed. All candidates of the La Follette Progressive Republican ticket were approved. Precinct chairmen are to be appointed at the meeting Saturday evening. President Bachman is preparing a list of men for these positions. The duty of these men will be to distribute literature in their districts and to conduct a drive to have all Progressives vote in the primaries on Sept. 7.

Behrent's automobile was shoved forward against a telephone pole, breaking a front bumper and bending the right front and left rear fenders. Extent of damage to the Treiber car was a bent right front fender.

BAND CONCERT MONDAY EVENING

Dancing, Singing and Reading Will Be Added Feature on Program

The regular weekly concert of the 120th Field Artillery band, of which Edward F. Mumm, director, will be played at 8 o'clock Monday evening at Pierce park instead of Tuesday evening, as originally planned. The band will be featured at the Seymour fair in the afternoons and evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday.

The largest crowd ever assembled here at a band concert is predicted by Director Mumm, whose organization has been receiving enthusiastic reception wherever it has played. Although as many as 9,000 or 10,000 persons have been present at former concerts, plans are being made to accommodate upwards of 15,000 persons Monday evening.

In addition to the regular program, a number of special numbers, including singing, dancing and readings, will be presented. A platform will be erected for this part of the program.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL WILL OPEN SEPT. 7

Appleton Vocational school will open Sept. 7, on the same day as the other public schools of the city. The first two days will be spent in registration and in assignment of classes and days. Those who enroll on the first day will have the best choice as to the day they wish to attend schools and the classes which they wish to register in, according to Herb Hellig, director.

The entire school building has been renovated during the summer and is in readiness for the opening of school. A number of the class and shop rooms have been redecorated and all the floors have been refinished. Science equipment, for which federal funds were granted, have arrived and will be used in science classes.

ANOTHER FORMER LA FOLLETTE MAN DESERTS "RING"

Head of Steuben Society of Milwaukee Repudiates Blaine and Ekern

Milwaukee—"But the Madison ring?" That was the message sent out Thursday by another of the late Senator La Follette's staunchest supporters, Atty. J. P. Buescher, chairman of the Steuben society here and an active and prominent figure in German organizations in Milwaukee and the state many years.

Mr. Buescher, in his repudiation of the "ring," declared the late Senator La Follette would not have indorsed the so-called progressive slate and asserted that Fred R. Zimmerman would have been the choice of the progressive leader for governor.

A BACKER OF BOB

"I have been a staunch La Follette man for many years and I know that if the late Senator La Follette were alive today he would not indorse the actions of the Madison ring," Mr. Buescher said. "I am decidedly in favor of busting that ring now."

"Too many progressives, ardent supporters of the late senator, have been read out of the ranks."

O. K.'S ZIMMERMAN

"I know the late Senator La Follette would have indorsed Mr. Zimmerman for governor, and that he certainly would not, in any measure, sanction the tactics of the ring at Madison."

Atty. Buescher, in making his statement, made it clear that he spoke only as a voter and citizen; that he was not speaking "as president of the Steuben society or for the society." The organization headed by Mr. Buescher numbers among its members many progressives, including Mr. Zimmerman and others who have been outstanding figures in the progressive cause in Wisconsin during the last quarter of a century.

CAMPAGNED FOR BOB

Mr. Buescher was so ardent a supporter of the progressive leader that, in 1924, he spent ten weeks in Ohio campaigning for the late senator who was then a candidate for president.

The repudiation of the "Madison crowd" by Mr. Buescher adds another name to the long list of prominent progressives, friends and associates of the late senator, who have deserted the "ring" in the state capitol, a list which includes Congressman John C. Schafer, Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman, Archie Testmeyer and Mrs. Testmeyer, Clinton B. Ballard, lifelong friend of the late senator; Clinton G. Price of Mauston, who was sidetracked when state jobs were allotted; John M. O'Rourke, prominent in railroad labor circles; William T. Ewiler, editor of a La Follette newspaper in Madison; Conrad Hanson of Madison and George M. Sheldon of Tomahawk.

CUT EXPENSES TO REDUCE TAXES

That's Only Common Sense Way of Doing It, Perry Says in Speech

Wisconsin Rapids.—(AP)—Assemblyman Charles B. Perry declared in an address here Thursday night that "in advocating lower taxes for Wisconsin and the establishment of a sane system of taxation," he is not "standing for what the so-called special interests may want."

"The only common sense way in which taxes can be reduced," he said, "is to reduce public expenditures by lopping off some of the unnecessary servants of the people who have been for years attached to the public pay roll. The development of this pay roll by the creation of boards, commissions, inspectors, special attorneys and many other appointments, so highly typifies our present form of government in Wisconsin and is an expensive in unnecessary expense of our boasted 'progressivism' that I can not refrain from speaking about it."

"It seems to me that real progress in life as well as in matters of government, means a fair degree of emancipation, of freedom of action and thought and the carrying on of personal and business activities without the super guardianship of the state as a mentor or policeman stand."

Under government, as developed by the office holders at Madison, with an army of enforcing agencies, we are the creatures of a paternalism unthought of even in the days of the feudal barons. A GENUINE "KEPT PRESS"

Governor Blaine is commencing to feed his audiences with the customary campaign propaganda against the newspapers. It is the usual dance of the ghosts. He says that many of the daily newspapers suppress copies of political speeches sent to them, thereby keeping from the people "the facts and the truths that are being presented by the progressive candidates in this campaign." This is on a par with assertions of politicians of his type following the war, that American newspapers were under the control of Great Britain, that many of them were owned outright by the late Lord Northcliffe, and other similar nonsense. The next of such loose talk which we shall probably hear will be that Wall Street trucks loaded with gold are already rumbling over the roads on the way to Wisconsin to control the election. All of which is pure invention, containing less truth than there is of honey in an empty tomato can.

The Post-Crescent is one of the newspapers Governor Blaine dislikes and with good reason, but it is not one he dares refer to specifically as suppressing news. Readers of this newspaper know whether it presents both sides of public affairs as they are handled in its news columns. They know whether its people's forum is open to the presentation of both sides of any question. They know whether it prints both sides in a political campaign. They know whether this has been its habitual policy. They know, or should know, whether it is a newspaper or a personal organ of propaganda. They know whether they read in it as many speeches of Blaine, LaFollette and Ekern as of speeches by Lenroot, Zimmerman and Perry.

The Post-Crescent is not interested in Blaine harangue against the "kept press" but it will show to him before it finishes this editorial that the truly "kept press" is of the making of himself and his platform supporters, that the "kept press" trains with him and his crowd and not with his opponent. Senator Lenroot. The nearest exception to this is the Madison Capital Times, an out-and-out progressive organ, but it could not stand Blaine and has repudiated him. A specialized publication, The Wisconsin Farmer, spokesman for the agricultural interests of the state, has also repudiated Mr. Blaine.

There are published in the state of Wisconsin perfect examples of Governor Blaine's "kept press", making no pretense to present to the people both sides of any controversy but publishing a few columns of vicious propaganda designed to array one class against another, to create endless turmoil and to construct nothing. They represent the most flagrant examples of the suppression of free speech imaginable. They generally make no pretense of publishing news as such, purposely leaving out of print everything that does not strike their particular fancy. They are genuine Blaine supporters and Governor Blaine welcomes their support. They are more concerned with the news of Moscow than the news of Washington. They pretend, like Blaine, to support labor, and, like Blaine, feed off labor. After they go to bankrupt graves as they generally do, they have been known to hound working people through collection agencies and otherwise for the payment of subscriptions which had not been given and for the delivery of papers after delivery had been ordered discontinued. They use methods anything but kindly toward people who are entitled to be treated fairly.

Can it be true that working people cannot see through the thin disguise of such concerns? The purpose to take from workers all that can be obtained and give nothing in return is too apparent. We believe the day is at hand when the public generally is coming to distinguish carefully between free and independent newspapers, and mere personal organs of propaganda, that they know that the latter are in truth and in fact the "kept press" and must be scrutinized carefully for that reason alone.

But the Blaine ring is getting desperate and as the campaign progresses and public opinion is apparently going over in Mr. Lenroot's favor the old campaign box is opened and, however moss-covered or moth-eaten, every scarecrow of the past is resurrected.

SHAKESPEARE, THE WISCRACKER

For a long time the world in general, and the English-speaking portion of it in particular, has been taking a certain gentleman who once dwelt on the banks of the Avon with too great a degree of seriousness. We refer, of course, to Will Shakespeare, to whom the centuries have been most kind.

Time not only has mellowed and enhanced the gentleman's literary excellence but it has gone on to give considerably more credit than was his due as a wit and a philosopher.

Hamlet, of course, is still Hamlet, and the greatness of that melancholy prince has withstood the acid test of plus fours. We submit that if anything in the world is calculated to change a tragedy into a farce it is the attire of the present day golfer. But Hamlet survived even this.

But ever and anon something occurs that raises a sharp challenge to the bard's reputedly great knowledge of phenomena. Little things have a way of creeping into the news; very little things, but so many that, were we to array them all together, they would present a very formidable refutation of some of the Shakespearian philosophy.

The latest is a piece of news from Chicago. It seems that 62,000 boys and girls sang in a mighty chorus during the ceremonies attendant on the 28th International Eucharistic Congress. Now the leader of that chorus—the largest, we are assured, in all history—was not Smith, or Perkins, or Jones, or Lauferweiler, or yet O'Laughlan. No indeed. His name was Singenberger.

The question arises, where under the sun will you find, for the purpose of leading the world's largest collection of voices, a finer, sturdier, more qualified and more honest name than Singenberger? If you wanted to be instructed in the art of being vocally musical, to whom would you go—to a man named Hamburger or a man named Singenberger?

It was Shakespeare—none other—who once raised the question as to the value of names. "What's in a name?" he asked, "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

That, we maintain, is not philosophy. Or, at best, it is pretty shallow philosophy. There are many names that have very pronounced echoic qualities to them. For instance, there is the word "goosey." We dare you to think of "goosey" as something that is not sticky and gummy. And as for the rose, well, would its fragrance be as sweet if it were called, for instance, a wiener?

It seems to us that many of the pearly drops of Shakespearian wisdom that have come reeling and rocking down the ages are just a little "phony," if you know what we mean. Were the gentleman alive today and gave utterance to some of his famous phrases, we would be willing to wager a week's salary against your other golf ball that he would be set down as something of a wisecracker instead of an oracle.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

The pesky thing is fairly worn and, in some spots it's kinda torn. It once was new, but not today, and 'course it sorta looks that way. For lo these years it's held the stake, an' goodness knows just what's its age. But, what's the dirt? Nobody cares, as long as it just wears and wears. I've heard it said, "we'll throw it out." They know not what they talk about. Why, say, when we have gone for good, 'twill still be here, just as it should. From grandma's days right down to now, the thing has held to form somehow. To use it we make quite a fuss, the resting place for all of us. You've had one too, without a doubt. The favorite chair I write about through years of wear has stood the test, but still's a dern good place to rest.

WHAT PRICE GOOD TEETH

A good tooth is worth whatever it may cost, for baby, growing child, youth or adult. Even the formidable program of daily cleaning of the teeth with brush, dentifrice, floss silk and technical skill which dentists generally advise, is by no means a high price to pay—if it saves the teeth. But it seems to me that millions of faithful followers of this advice give testimony, in the state of their teeth, of the inefficiency of the program. I think clean teeth are as difficult to preserve as unclean teeth. A dentist taking me severely to task for my "peculiar and lonely" ideas about the preservation and care of the teeth, defines dirt on the teeth as "starches from clean food, lime salts, and much from the saliva." The teeth are largely composed of lime salts, the most wholesome foods contain lime salts, and many dentifrices contain lime salts. Much is a normal constituent of saliva. Starch—ah, there we have the old, old prejudice against "starchy food." Starch or sugar readily undergoes lactic fermentation—a by-product of which is lactic acid. Once the dentists seriously thought that this lactic acid dissolved or started a cavity. Now they know better. Still, the old prejudice remains and the proprietary interests capitalize the "acid condition" extensively.

A good many pleasingly plump women suffer from that fat feeling. All they need is some good exercise to take up the slack and remove the sense of slouchiness, ungainliness or whatever it is. A good many cleanly, healthful people suffer from that dirty feeling. It is bad psychology—bad from the victim's point of view, bad from the viewpoint of hygiene, though we have seen above the standpoint of the exploiting-interests. What these people need is a little elementary education in anatomy, physiology and hygiene—the science of man which is deemed unsuitable or improper by the very folk who need it most.

Popularity of tooth brushing rests mainly on two ideas, both of which are too romantic to be considered seriously. The first is that the mechanical removal of food particles or dirt prevents the beginning of cavity formation—yet nearly all of the millions of folks who brush their teeth faithfully and regularly develop more or less caries. The other idea is that the antiseptic in the dentifrice prevents decay of the teeth—and although each new dentifrice is many times more "powerful" in antiseptic virtues than the others, people who use these nostrums regularly and faithfully keep right on suffering from decay of the teeth, unless they are wise enough to seek proper dental inspection and treatment at frequent intervals.

How do savages and the animals manage to keep their teeth so clean and so sound? The way to keep your teeth, clean or dirty, is now pretty well understood by scientific authorities. It is this:
(1) Use your teeth to chew natural food.
(2) Inasmuch as civilized life renders natural food a difficult thing to obtain, the times you must visit the dentist at regular intervals for any necessary cleaning, treatment or repair of the teeth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

If the Truth Were Told

I noticed, I think, something about a seasickness remedy which had been very effective in your column. As I expect to go abroad... (B. A. F.)
Answer—It has proved notably effective in my column, but just how effective it may be at sea, I'd like to hear a few readers say. Repeat your request and enclose a stamped addressed envelope. I'll send you directions for preventing seasickness, but no guarantee that it will work. I never guarantee any remedies. I couldn't guarantee even an emetic to work in every case. Some people can keep the very best emetics down. Some people are very obstinate about that. Maybe such people would get seasick in spite of my treatment.

CROWNED
I used to call Hortense "My Queen!"
For I loved her like everything
And, Oh, but I was awfully keen
To have that maiden crown me King.
But when I married Queen Hortense
My love received a deadly shock.
For often for a small offense
She'd crown me with a heavy crock.

COLDS AMONG OYSTERS CAUSE LOSS TO TRADE

Tokyo—(P)—Because oysters like humans are subject to bad colds, a loss of more than 600,000 embryos, cultured pearls is estimated to have suffered by pearl raisers of Ago Bay, not Nagaya.
Ago Bay is the center of Japan's cultured pearl industry. Here tiny seeds implanted in oysters grow into rich necklaces. The season's drought is said to have caused the water of the bay to become extremely cold and the change in temperature, experts said, resulted in the pearls oysters' catching cold and dying.

"KOTEX" is a new and remarkable way—five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

You discard it as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time. Thus ending ALL fear of offending.

You get it for a few cents at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." Women ask for it without hesitancy.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, rye toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Creamed spinach with broiled tomatoes, graham bread, frozen fruit salad, toasted crackers, milk, eat.

DINNER — Breaded veal cutlets, scalloped potatoes and onions, buttered new beets, head lettuce with Russian dressing, tapioca cup, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The dish suggested in the luncheon menu is most attractive. The spinach is served in its cream sauce surrounded by a ring of broiled tomatoes. Hard-cooked eggs can be put through a ricer and sprinkled over the top of the spinach for an additional bit of color. It doesn't take a minute longer to make this appetizing combination dish than it does to "dish up" each vegetable separately and it actually saves a dish when time for dish-washing.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

One package Neufchate cheese, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1/4 cup seeded white grapes, 1/2 cup shredded pineapple, 1/2 cup diced peaches, 1/2 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Work cheese with a fork until smooth. Slowly add mayonnaise, blending thoroughly. Whip cream until firm and beat in lemon juice and salt. Combine with first mixture. Skin and seed grapes before measuring. Pare and dice peaches.

Add fruit to dressing and turn into a mold. Pack in four parts ice and 1 part salt and let stand three or four hours. Remove from mold and cut in slices. Serve on crisped and chilled lettuce.

Wrap a dish towel wrung out of very hot water around the mold and the frozen mixture will slip out easily.

ARE YOU RURAL? MEND YOUR WAYS IF YOU WISH TO BE SUCCESSFUL

You have heard people say, "He's a nice boy, and I think I shall like him fine; but, oh, he's rural." What exactly is meant by this term is that the boy is likable but that he hides most of his attractive qualities by embarrassment and general uneasiness in the presence of people. Self-consciousness would be the word to use.

He doesn't know how to meet people, let alone introduce other people to use his spoon, etc. His real self is thus not given a chance to show itself. And seeing a man thus you would say that he was boorish. Often such contacts allow us no chance to further the acquaintance. And so we retain our first impression.

SYSTEM OF LIVING

No matter what you may say about the superficiality of judging people in this way, the fact remains that it is done and done every day. We are bound to make crack judgments of people because of the complicated system of living we in this century have set up for ourselves. Our business relations are such that we are forced to rely upon first impressions.

blending thoroughly. Whip cream until firm and beat in lemon juice and salt. Combine with first mixture. Skin and seed grapes before measuring. Pare and dice peaches. Add fruit to dressing and turn into a mold. Pack in four parts ice and 1 part salt and let stand three or four hours. Remove from mold and cut in slices. Serve on crisped and chilled lettuce.

and it is true that we nearly always retain them.

Such judgments are unfair to a certain degree, but on the whole these outward signs represent the caliber of your inner self. Our internal spirit can only be portrayed through external manifestations such as unselfishness and consideration and respect for those about us.

CHECK UP ON YOURSELF

Do you break your bread into small pieces and then butter it?

Do you spread your bread on your plate and never on the palm of your hand or on the tablecloth?

Do you drink soup from the side of the bowl of the spoon as quietly as possible and never from the point?

Do you talk only when your mouth is free of food? Or do you put food on your fork as soon as you have taken one bite and then hold it suspended before your mouth until you are ready for the next mouthful?

Do you always offer food to a woman who sits next to you at the table? And also to the person at the head of the table?

Do you rise when introduced to a woman, and only offer your hand if she extends it first?

When women enter a room in which you are do you rise? And if another woman comes to the table at which you are seated in a restaurant or at home do you rise until she is seated or has departed?

When walking with two women do you walk on the street side always?

Are you one of the few rare jewels who offer older women and men your seat in a crowded street car? If you are with a woman on the street car do you get off the car first so that you can help her alight?

You allow women to go through all doors first, doors which you hold open for them? And do you allow women to enter and step out of the elevators first? Do you remove your hat when riding in an elevator with women?

Do you always present a man to a woman and say: "Mrs. Jones, may I introduce Mr. Smith to you?" And do you present a younger woman to an older one in this fashion: "Mrs. Jones may I introduce Miss Smith to you?" It wouldn't be amiss to help keep alive the chivalry of Sir Lancelot's time. Respect and reverence for age and womanhood is indeed a worthy trait. Considering the feelings of our fellow men is really the keynote of our harmonious life, and consideration is outwardly manifest in our manners toward others.

EASY VICTORYRagged Support in Infield
Leaves Game Wide Open
for Winners

Kaukauna—The Postals infield played an erratic game against the Mulford game Thursday evening and the latter won 13 to 5. Only once during the game did the government men threaten to catch up with the clothiers, but their rally fell far short. Van Dyke played a good game for the Postals and he stopped the clothiers from getting several more runs by pulling down hot line drives. Youngberg who was on the mound for the Mulford received a world of support and the entire team played good ball. Mulford scored three in the first inning and repeated in the second. It was the third inning before the Postals managed to get a run home. In the fourth two clothing men came home again. Two more crossed the home plate in the fifth and the same was true in the sixth. The Postals rallied in the sixth but the greatest number of runs they could get were four. Mulford scored again in the seventh.

The lineup:
Postals—Berens, Nagan, Mereness, Treptow, Milz, Brouche, Killo, Carnot, Schubring and Van Dyke.
Mulford—Berens, Roubade, Youngberg, Webster, Hase, Rommick, Michel, Anderson and Brenzel.

IS POOR, SAYS
COMPANY HEADW. H. Hatten Declares Present
Efforts at Reforestation
Are Weak

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Wisconsin lumber is finding a poor market this season, according to W. H. Hatten of the Hatten Lumber company of this city. Although there is considerable building under way in this vicinity, lumber prices are exceptionally low as a result of keen competition brought about by the huge quantities of western and southern lumber which is flooding the market now, he pointed out.

Regarding reforestation, Mr. Hatten declared that the huge inroads made by the lumber industries in the north woods far outmeasures the feeble steps at reforestation, and that the devastation of native forests is years ahead of the nation's slow awakening to the fact that the lumbering interests have made ruin of timberlands without replenishing them.

"For the private individual to do much toward this state of affairs is almost impossible," said Mr. Hatten. "Fire hazards, coupled with perhaps the biggest obstacle of all, that of land taxation, makes replanting of cutover land almost prohibitive for the private individual. The growth of a forest before attaining value as lumbering material is a matter of a long period, and during all those years there is taxation. The matter is one for the government to solve."

Reforestation is a subject of considerable study and interest to Mr. Hatten, who while in the state senate attempted to bring about changes needful and of great benefit to the forests of the future.

RADIO STATIONS MADE TO PAY BY "AD" PROGRAMS

LAF Is Among First Stations to Show Profit on Broadcasting

Broadcasting has passed another important stage in its young career. It is beginning to pay.

Of course, this is true today only of a few choice stations. In the entire country, but even from the great remainder, the cry of nothing gained from broadcasting has died down until we can almost hear their sighs of content.

Signs of this trend in broadcasting are many and convincing. There is first the positive statement on the part of perhaps the leading broadcaster in the country that broadcasting, so far as this station is concerned, is on a paying basis. That is, the monthly balance is no longer in red figures.

This is station WEAF of New York. Of course, says E. C. McClellan, manager of WEAF, "we can't say we're on a profit-making basis comparable to other industries. But at least we now we're not losing."

ADVERTISING LENDS A HAND

Advertising has done this. And to show that radio advertising itself is worth the broadcasting, there is proof of a long list of firms rushing to the radio audience with their entertainment in one hand and to the stations with their checks in the other.

Austin C. Lescarboura, writing in the September issue of Radio Broadcast magazine, reveals that broadcasting stations today have rate cards for their clients, advertisers, just as newspapers and magazines have. The rate card of WEAF, for instance, calls for a charge of $600 an hour for the use of that station alone, running up to $4000 an hour for use of the entire chain of WEAF and 16 other stations.

This is divided for payment among the stations participating in the chain.

And it doesn't include the cost of talent, which the advertiser must furnish.

Another sign of the change for the better in broadcasting is the long line of applicants waiting to participate in this heretofore unpromising game. Another is the purchase of high-power transmitters—even as high as 50 kilowatts—to reach out to as large an audience as possible.

IT'S A BIG INVESTMENT

Still another proof of the cash value of broadcasting is the competition that has arisen among the stations for the retention of their listeners by means of better and more costly programs. One New York station, says Lescarboura, spends $260,000 a year to maintain its station and pay for its staff and talent. Quite a sum to pay out if nothing were to be got in return.

Broadcasting has become as much a business as automobile manufacturing or shoe-making. Station WEAF has a large sales force to solicit advertising, equal to that of any magazine or newspaper. In addition this station is practically a theatrical booking agency for its talent, getting financial return even from this activity.

There are many stations in the country, still, who refuse to commercialize their programs. But 50 per cent of the broadcasters, it is officially assured, are selling time to advertisers—from one hour up to as much as six or eight hours a day.

Some stations, too, charge as low as $1.50 an hour, only a nominal fee hardly enough to pay for the upkeep of the station. But the average charge would run around $150 to $200 an hour.

MILLS FORCED TO SHUT DOWN BY LOW WATER

The low water season of the year is here now, according to A. E. Everett, chief United States engineer. Although the water is not so low as to interfere with navigation, some mills below Appleton are shutting down because there is not enough water to furnish power to operate. The water is not any lower, than other years, however, and several good heavy rains would raise the level. The gates on the dam above the Appleton first lock are kept closed to allow the water to remain in the canal. There is not much water flowing over the dam just west of the Oneida-st bridge.

SAVE MILLIONS OF FISH FROM RIVER SLOUGHS

State and Federal Governments Cooperate in Winneshiek Bottoms

Madison, Wis.—(AP)—Thousands of fish are being saved from an arid or frozen death in the landlocked sloughs of the Mississippi river by the Wisconsin conservation commission.

This was the word brought to Commissioner Elmer E. Hall today by Robert L. Ripple, Oshkosh, assistant superintendent of fisheries, who is in charge of the work.

Six crews of men each are engaged in the work, Mr. Ripple said. Two of the crews in two weeks rescued more than 400,000 small fish that otherwise would have died, either when the pools became dry, or when they froze in the winter.

Due to inadequate facilities, only about 2 per cent of the fish are distributed to lakes in other parts of the state, Mr. Ripple said. The remainder are placed in the Mississippi. The fish distributed elsewhere are sent to all parts of the state, many of them being transported in trucks to lakes in southern Wisconsin.

The fish are hatched from spawn left in the sloughs by the adult fish in the high water period in the spring. The adult fish swim back to the river, leaving the spawn to hatch in the summer. When the water recedes, the baby fish are left in landlocked sloughs and pools. They include sunfish, crappies, bass, bullheads, blue gills and catfish.

The rescued fish are small, Mr. Ripple said. Most of them range from two and one-half inches to three and one-half inches in length. They grow rapidly in the pools, where vegetation abounds, some of them growing an inch a month.

Mr. Ripple estimated that from ten to twelve carloads of fish will be distributed throughout the state this year. The rescue work was begun on August 1, and will be continued until the waters freeze, the usual period being from two weeks to three months. The state does its rescuing in the Winneshiek bottoms from La Crosse to Fairville. The work in the other half of the bottoms is done by the federal government. The total extent of territory in which the work is done is approximately 18 miles.

"We can't work fast enough to save all the fish," Mr. Ripple said. "Often we find dry beds containing many small dead fish."

"The rescue work is difficult. It is necessary to tie our boots to our legs to prevent them from being pulled off in the mud and water which sometimes is shoulder deep. The men carry tubs of fish to the river, and meanwhile are busy fighting hordes of mosquitoes that swarm about them."

"The rescuers, are all fishermen, however, and are interested in their work, from the standpoint of keeping the fish from perishing."

REMODEL BOILER ROOM FOR KNIT MACHINERY

Remodeling of the old boiler room of the Appleton Woolen Mills, S. Oneida-st., will be completed in about a week by W. A. Nearhood, Appleton contractor, who has been working on the building for the past month. The remodeled building is to be used for manufacturing purposes, according to A. H. Theurer, superintendent.

Several knitting machines will be installed for use immediately, and it is possible that several new machines may be purchased at an early date and set up in this same building. A new boiler house was completed by the company about two years ago and the old building was being used as a store house.

College Ave. Lady Now Making Up For Many Meals Missed In Past

Popular matron declares everything tastes good to her since Dreco ended suffering with stomach.

Since the new herbal remedy Dreco was introduced here recently never a day passes but that someone calls on the Dreco Expert at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store and tells of the wonderful amount of good they have received.

Mrs. Jane Groff, 73 years old, who runs a busy confectionery store at 827 West College Ave., Appleton, Wis., says:

"For fifteen years I have suffered agonies. I've been so rundown and the medicines I took proved so ineffective. I refused to listen anymore of friends' advice when they recommended this medicine or that medicine. But when the Dreco came to town and I learned that this new remedy was made from the juices of the good old-fashioned plants, roots and herbs, I thought that here at last was a medicine which might help me so I started taking it."

"At the time I was in misery with stomach and liver complaints. I had no appetite at all, yet the little I ate caused me to suffer intensely with gassy pains in my stomach and around my heart. My heart used to jump and flutter so I thought I had heart trouble. Sour acids used to come up in my throat, I was short of breath and even a crust of bread would make me deathly sick. I was also subject to constipation, headaches and dizzy spells and grew nervous and weak."

"But since taking Dreco I feel like God has given me a new body. It's now a pleasure to work around the store and I enjoy doing the marketing, for whenever I see anything that tempts me, I know I can buy it and take it home and eat it without fear of suffering in any way with my stomach afterward. I now have a good appetite and am making up for the many meals I missed in the past. Besides correcting my stomach troubles, Dreco also put an end to the dizzy spells, regulated my bowels, relieved the headaches, quieted my nerves, and, in fact, made me feel as healthy as a young girl."

"Mr. W. N. Martin, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. downtown drug store is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him."

COUNTY SCHOOL MENTORS HOLD INSTITUTE HERE

All Teachers Will Be Required to Attend, Meeting Says

Plans for the coming school year will be discussed at the annual institute of county school teachers, which is to be held here Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28. It is expected that the institute will be held at the courthouse. The program of the first day will begin at 8:30 in the morning.

"All teachers are required to attend both days in order that we may outline our plans for the year, and start out work in a systematic manner," declares A. G. Meating, superintendent of county schools in a letter to rural and village teachers.

Superintendent Meating hopes for a 100 per cent enrollment of teachers of the county in the Wisconsin Teachers' association.

WANT 2,000 YOUNG MEN NAVAL RESERVE CORPS

A campaign for 2,000 enlistments in the marine corps reserve of the United States army has been started by Sergt. Valentine Feyrer, Jr., who is in charge of the recruiting office in the Federal building at Milwaukee. Men who enlist at this time will compose the 9th regiment of the reserve, headquarters of which are to be at Chicago.

The marine corps reserves consists of men who sign to serve in time of war or in a national emergency as designated by the president. This is the only duty to which reservists can be called, according to Sergt. Feyrer. There are no drills.

Applicants for enlistments will be given a physical examination. Those who are accepted need thereafter only send notification of change of address to the commanding officer. The age limits are 18 to 35. Youths under 20 will get a chance to be appointed to the naval academy by joining the reserve, as 25 members of the reserve are appointed to the academy each year.

TOO MANY CLUBS ARE DISORGANIZING FARMERS

Marion — (P)—Farmers are being "disorganized" in some communities by too many organizations, the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation declared through its secretary, I. M. Wright.

The farm bureau, Mr. Wright stated, "where properly organized tends to unify the efforts and interests of the entire community."

"There are places in Wisconsin where the farmers have been organized into many little, weak, inefficient organizations that they have neither time nor strength for an efficient organization," he said.

"One man reported that in his community there was a meeting of some organization every night in the week. He said that after attending a farmer's club and a community club and a spray ring and the regular meeting with the Smith-Hughes high school teacher, taking his wife to the meetin' of the poultry association and Mary and Susie to the boys' and girls' club there was no time nor strength for a farm bureau getting in his neighborhood."

NEW LONDON MAN PRAISES SEYMOUR FAIR CIRCUS

Joe Greer's Rodeo Circus which is to play at the Seymour fair Aug. 23, 24, 25 and 26, is one of the best shows of its kind in the country, according to a letter received by George Feidler, secretary of the fair association from N. R. Demming of New London.

Mr. Demming said he has known Mr. Greer for several years and can vouch for the quality of his show. He stated that Mr. Greer's circus played with the Ringling Bros. circus last year and has been playing in New York City the past season.

PLOTS UP SCREEN ON SUNDAY AND POLICE GET HIM

Zion, Ill.—Elmer West of Zion must face hearing in justice court here Friday on a charge of offending the peace and dignity of the community by attempting to put window screens on his home Sunday.

The arrest of West was made by Patrolman John Lattislaw of the Zion police force, who happened to be passing the house at the time.

West did not deny that he was putting up the screens. He sought to excuse his action by saying that Saturday he had painted them but could not put them up because the paint had not dried. Sunday it was so warm, he said that he wanted to open the windows in his home. He put up the screens to keep the flies out, and was arrested.

RAIN DAMAGES BADGER CROPS

Late Potatoes Doing Well in Most Sections, Weekly Report Says

Rain did some damage to the crops of Wisconsin during the last week and interfered with farm work, the Milwaukee weather office said Wednesday in its weekly crop report. "The weather was cloudy and overcast with moderate temperatures," the report said. "Excessive rains occurred in some western counties and heavy showers in some east-central localities. Grains were injured in shock by the moisture in many localities and harvesting and threshing delayed.

"The yields of small grains continue fair to good, except oats, which are mostly light. Pastures have improved, but need rain in many southern and southeastern counties. The second cutting of alfalfa is light in many sections.

"Corn is uneven and still backward, but it is doing well. It is tasseling in northeastern counties and is reported doing well in southern counties. Sweet corn is unusually late.

"The yield of early potatoes continues only poor to fair. Late potatoes are doing well in most sections. There are some reports of blight. Tobacco is uneven and rather backward. Topping is becoming general. "Cranberry vines are healthy, and the berries are doing well. The picking of a record crop of cherries is

EXPECT LOCAL PEOPLE AT CHURCH CAMPMEETING

A large number of Appleton people are expected to attend the annual campmeeting and convention of the Evangelical league and Sunday schools of the Appleton district of the Wisconsin Conference of Evangelical churches at the Evangelical camp grounds at Forest Junction, Aug. 20 to 29. The Rev. C. F. Rabehl, Appleton is to be the presiding officer.

Many Appleton people will attend the daily sessions, but the largest crowd is expected to attend the services on Sunday Aug. 22, as there will be no services at the Emmanuel Evangelical church on that date.

nearing completion in Door county. Cabbage, cucumbers, peas, fruit and truck are mostly doing well. Tomatoes are beginning to ripen."

"Pick the Ace"

HARDLY likely that his Shifty Miguel is the sort of hombre to be operating his charming "monte" game for his own health—or for the outsider's. Even if the elusive ace is there at all after his nimble throw, he's still holding a two-to-one edge on the luckless venturer into his risky realm.

It's a similar brace game that unknown and brandless fuels stack up for your car. The bait of finding their pumps or stations "handy", and the come-along of a low gallon price seem to mark you a winner at first—but there's a sad trimming in store for your motor at the final show-down.

Irresponsible—with no reputations or substantial community investments to protect—scores of sales pumps for nondescript gas spring up on every hand. Buying from the cheapest and ever-varying sources of supply, they offer you no guardianship of grade or specifications—no protection against the motor-harmful adulterants of kerosene—no certainty of uniform quality nor an approach to true gasoline value.

You are even subjected to the danger of "gyp" fuels measured out to you through the mask of dependable brand labels on the pumps.

Wadhams 370 True Gasoline is your shield against illegitimate abuses and bootleg practices that spread their wiles for the unwary buyer.

Its brand name is not only a guarantee of superior quality and extra value, but the mark of definite responsibility to you and your car. Whenever its selling sign is seen—at company-owned stations or at dealer's, you know that you are receiving a service of protection against costly future damage to your car through kerosenish fuel.

WETS, DRY BACK WHEELER TO BE U.S. "DRY CZAR"

But Anti-Saloon League Officials Say He Doesn't Want Job

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington — Wayne B. Wheeler says he won't accept the job of dry czar.

Sooner or later he'll have to, unless somebody, in the meantime, makes a success of prohibition enforcement. He can't stand on the sidelines indefinitely and criticize.

It's against the Anti-Saloon League policy, Wheeler explains, for any of its officials to accept political appointments.

Well, he can resign as an Anti-Saloon League official.

He adds that he can't promise satisfactory enforcement without stricter laws and better coordination of government departments.

Yet he's found fault with Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews' accomplishments as enforcement chieftain, in the face of these very same handicaps.

It's announced that Andrews is going to stay on the job until after election—maybe until Congress meets.

That's a matter of politics. The administration wants prohibition to figure at the polls as little as possible in November. Andrews, as a good soldier, doesn't quit with a fight on.

He's about through, however.

Willy-nilly, Wayne B. Wheeler will succeed him, if the pressure's severe enough.

Or, if he doesn't succeed Andrews, he'll succeed Andrews' successor, or his successor's successor. Ultimately he'll have to take that job unless, in the reasonable near future, somebody makes good on it.

Why in the world Wheeler wasn't suggested as prohibition enforcement chieftain before is a mystery.

He was the most obvious man in the country for the position.

The minute he was mentioned, semi-seriously, the whole country fell for him.

Of course! Why hadn't he been thought of before?

It was a semi-serious suggestion but the national reaction to it was dead serious.

Wets, who think prohibition can't be enforced by anybody, favor Wheeler, because, if he tries and fails, modification, in their opinion, will be inevitable.

Drys, who want enforcement, believe Wheeler can enforce it if anybody can. "No man could suit us better than Wheeler," says Research Secretary Deets Pickett of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

Anti-Saloon League headquarters in Washington is somewhat flustered by the Wheeler boom's suddenness.

It was abrupt and no mistake.

But it's a real boom and try as he may to get out from under, Wayne B. Wheeler's going to have to do some mighty swift side-stepping to dodge the post of assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement in the pretty near future.

Aged Mother Gives All To Help Ne'er Do Well Sons

Falls City, Neb.—She is 65, tired by a lifetime of toil and sacrifice. She has a crippled husband who cannot work, a drag on her strength instead of a help.

And she has five sons—shiftless, worthless ne'er do wells, who have helped to make her old and gray. They have been "in trouble" off and on, ever since they reached manhood. Just now they are all in jail charged with murder in the first degree.

But, being a mother, she loves them. And she is pitting the last of her feeble resources in an effort to free them.

That, in brief, is the story of Mrs. Fred Compton and her family. The boys are Ray, Jack, Wiley, Fred and Charles. Their ages range from 23 to 34.

"None of 'em work steady," the neighbors remark. They have wounded the old woman's heart so many times that it must be almost numb to further pain. Two years ago one of the sons was arrested in Canada on a charge of stealing liquor. Mrs. Compton sold a farm and went to Canada to defend him. She spent all of her money in beating the charge.

Now comes the latest blow.

Last June, it is charged the boys drove into Falls City, held up a dice game of $3000 and killed a man in making their getaway. William Condit, chief of the Nebraska state police, arrested them a little later.

Lodged in jail, the five immediately did what they have always done. They called to their mother for help.

She is going to mortgage her home to get money to provide legal defense for the boys.

The home is all she has left. Her savings are gone. Her husband is unable to earn a cent. It may mean the poorhouse for her. But she has not hesitated.

STAGE And SCREEN

WHEN A WIFE WANDERS

A new cure for a flirtatious wife is offered in "Silken Shackles," the Warner picture starring Irene Rich, which opened yesterday at the Elite Theatre.

Miss Rich looks even lovelier than in "Lady Windermere's Fan," her first venture into the siren field and a sparkling successful one. She plays Denise Lake, who accompanies her husband abroad on a diplomatic mission, and finds the Budapest moon romantic and intoxicating. Huntly Gordon plays the husband, whose love for his beautiful and impulsive wife, makes it impossible for him to attend to business. Victor Varconi is seen as the Hungarian violinist who so captivates the wife that she is ready to leave her husband for him. All three give perfect portrayals and have an excellent supporting cast which includes Robert Schable, Bert Marburg, Evelyn Selbie and Kalla Pascha.

have ever been shown in a Western drama. One breath-taking situation follows another with lightning rapidity. There are also some thrilling exhibitions of horsemanship, one in particular where Buck rides an unbroken cow-pony and wins a wager from the two Martin brothers, who have bullied the neighborhood for so long.

Jones has a particularly well chosen supporting cast which includes Florence Gilbert, in the leading role, Edna Marlon, Ernest Butterworth, Arthur Houseman and Montague Love.

"DESSERT PRICE" WHIRLWIND DRAMA

"The Desert's Price," starring Buck Jones at the New Bijou today and Saturday is a thrilling Western picture, full of action and surprising situations that hold one tense from the first flash to the last.

Buck is cast as the handsome young owner of a large cattle ranch. He returns from the East to find his cow-boys under suspicion of killing sheep belonging on a neighboring ranch. Then through some clever detective work on his part the real culprits are discovered and peace is restored between the ranchers.

The scenic effects are without a doubt some of the most wonderful that

URGE CITIES TO COMBINE TO BUILD SEWAGE PLANT

COMBINED LOCKS TAKES LEAD IN HUGE PROJECT

Would Build Community Plant on River North of Kaukauna

A resolution petitioning the municipalities between Kaukauna and Little Chute to combine for building a large sewage disposal plant below Kaukauna for use of all the cities and villages in the project, is expected to be adopted at the next meeting of the village board of Combined Locks, according to A. E. McMahon, Menasha, engineer for the village.

This action has grown out of the refusal of the Wisconsin state board of health to sanction the proposed 7,200 foot sewer project in the village of Combined Locks and the order of the board to the village to build a disposal plant. The proposed sewer would have emptied into the Fox river.

WANT MEETING
The proposed resolution petitions the mayor of Appleton to call a meeting of the heads of the municipalities of Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly, Appleton, Combined Locks, Menasha, Neenah, town of Grand Chute, town of Vandenberg, town of Menasha and the state health officer to discuss ways and means of forwarding the plan.

The meeting would be held at Appleton and those attending would decide whether such a plan is feasible. The proposed project involves a large disposal plant just north of Kaukauna on the banks of the Fox river, fed by a main sewer pipe line leading from Neenah through all of the contributing towns and villages.

Sewage from each of the cities would empty into the main line through a system of local lines. Such a project would cost a large amount of money, but would be less expensive than for each of these towns and villages to build a local plant, it is contended.

In time the towns of Vandenberg, Grand Chute and Kaukauna will be included by nearby cities and in the future all of the cities included in the project will be forced for health purposes to build disposal plants. For this reason Combined Locks is trying to bring attention to a condition that will, in the future, be a problem to each of the cities included in the project. The resolution will be brought before the village board at Combined Locks for approval at its meeting on Tuesday evening Aug. 31.

STREETS JAMMED AS DARE-DEVIL SCALES BUILDING

Traffic was tied up and streets jammed with people in the region of the Insurance-bldg. Thursday night when Eddie O'Brien "human fly" escaped from straight jacket while hanging upside down at the top of the building, and drew screams from the women in the crowd when he slipped several times on his climb from the ground to the roof. Mr. O'Brien gained the roof by pulling himself up on the window sills on the northwest corner of the building. He was pulled on a rope, feet first, to the top of the building where he hung for several minutes before finally freeing himself from the straight jacket.

STALLED TAXI DRIVER MEETS WOLF ON ROAD

Russell Walsh, driver for the Kunitz Taxi Co., believes that he met a wolf at about 8:30 Thursday evening near the intersection of N. Badger and W. Wisconsin-avenue. He was driving an automobile when the machine developed engine trouble, probably a short circuit caused by the heavy rain-fall.

Leaving his stalled car to go to a telephone about four blocks away, Walsh was startled to see a huge dog-like form. The animal circled around him with low growls, while he walked along the road. At every flash of lightning the animal leaped for a ditch at the side of the road. At the approach of an automobile the supposed wolf silently disappeared. Walsh was unable to observe the animal closely, because of the darkness, but he is convinced that his unwelcome companion was a hunger-maddened wolf.

SAVE LAKES FOR ALL THE PEOPLE, CANDIDATE SAYS

Zimmerman Seeks Law Which Will Prevent Closing of Badger Lakes

Ashland, Wis.—(AP)—Continuation of the conservation program of the present state administration would "convert Wisconsin's playgrounds into a principality" controlled by "the millionaire sportsmen of Chicago and the middlewest," Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman declared in an address here Thursday night.

The conservation program of the past six years, "which my Madison ring opponent of Chicago and Wisconsin is sworn to continue," if continued very long would result in giving a few outside sportsmen "the despotic power to refuse legal residents of the state the right to partake of the sport maintained by taxation," Mr. Zimmerman said.

"You cannot deny that Chicago millionaires and millionaires from all over the middlewest are coming into Wisconsin and buying up whole lakes for their own selfish interest in sport," he declared.

NEED NEW LAW
"A law is needed—and I promise support of a bill to make such law—which will correct a decision of two years ago of the state supreme court which held that any riparian owner had a right to erect fences on the beaches of lakes and thus prevent the public from crossing the enclosed areas.

"The decision very naturally decreases the interest of tourists, summer resorters, vacation seekers, as well as other owners of lake shore property from enjoyment and full benefits of theirs."

EKERN CONDEMNS SLEUTH PERMIT

Accuses Zimmerman of Granting License Without Investigation

Waterford — (AP) — Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman granted a license to the Russell Detective Agency, "the largest private detective agency in Wisconsin, without giving labor any hearing upon its objections to the same," Attorney General Herman L. Ekern charged in a campaign speech here Friday.

"The most important labor bill passed at the 1925 session of the Wisconsin legislature as the Pasway bill for the stricter regulation of the private detective agencies," Mr. Ekern said. It was aimed at agencies that were alleged to be supplying "inside operatives" and "strike breakers" to employers, he added.

The principal detective agency of Wisconsin, the Russell agency, was prevented from obtaining a license, he continued, "because the fire and police commission of Milwaukee would not give it endorsement while it continued its 'industrial work'."

GETS PERMIT
The Russell Agency "of a sudden abandoned its long drawn out battle in the courts, which it had three times carried to the supreme court in vain," the attorney general declared. "Then it developed that the Russell agency had removed its offices from the Caswell Block in Milwaukee to the suburb of Whitefish Bay, and that it had been granted a license by the secretary of state. What sort of an investigation he may have made to satisfy himself that the Milwaukee fire and police commission was wrong in refusing to endorse the character, competency and integrity of this agency, I do not know, but the fact remains that the largest private detective agency in Wisconsin now has a license and that this license was granted without giving labor any hearing upon its objections to the same."

PEEVED SHERIFF WANTS COUNTY TO FIX UP JAIL

Madison—Seven attempts of prisoners to break out of jail, one successful, made during the 20 months' incumbency of the Dane-co sheriff, J. J. Daggett, have exasperated that official and he has announced that he will ask the county board of supervisors for a new jail. The request will be made through W. H. Sommers, chairman of the board, and action may be taken at the meeting of the board in November.

The seventh escape attempt which decided the sheriff to take action was made Tuesday night by Albert and Rudolph Eckstrom, brothers and confessed robbers of the Waunakee post-office. They were discovered while prying the bars of their cell window apart.

The one successful attempt in the seven was made by Edward Alvin, alias Shorty Casey, who was recaptured in Greencastle, Ind., five months after he escaped.

FIANCE HONEYMOONS AS HERBERT WAITS

Beloit—(P)—Herbert J. Peters, was left "waiting at the church" Thursday when it was learned that Pauline Kagel, his intended wife, had quietly slipped out of the city on Tuesday and was secretly married to Arthur Christiansen, South Beloit, a Rockford justice of the peace.

After the wedding, the couple continued on their way and will spend their honeymoon at Wilmar, S. D. A younger sister of the bride and a girl friend were the only ones here to whom the elopement was revealed. The girl friend was to have acted as bridesmaid at the big wedding ceremony Thursday.

"I'll not come back to Beloit," the bride declared to her friend, "because I never can face Herbert again." Peters, an employee of the American Express Co., here, had been going with the girl for a period of four years.

70-YEAR-OLD SPELLING CHAMP LOSES TO GIRL, 15

Omaha—Omaha's veteran city spelling champion, A. D. Wilberger, 70, who recently completed so much of lack of competition that a match was arranged, today met his superior—Miss Helen Herolt, 15.

The two dared the judges to do their worst in selection of tongue twisters and they did so well that Helen misspelled thirty-seven words and Wilberger fifty-seven out of 100, missing such words as "amanuensis," "cachinnation" and "gnels."

"These wonderful words beat me," the veteran former champion apologized later, referring to some new chemical and radio stickers.

BUILD SURPLUS IN TREASURY TO PLAY POLITICS

Lenroot Tells Voters When
There Was No State Property Tax

Kenosha—(P)—Money has been taken from Wisconsin taxpayers "to build up a surplus in the state treasury with which to play politics," Senator Irvine L. Lenroot declared in an address here Thursday night. The state administration "made taxes so high that they could not use all of the money that came rolling in even with all of their office holders," Senator Lenroot said. "Now they say there are no general state taxes this year, and I am going to tell you the reasons."

"They took the money out of your pockets where it belonged and lent it to banks at 2½ per cent. You went to the banks—many of you—and paid banks 6 and 7 per cent for your own money to pay to the state in taxes."

"You are told that there is no general state tax. But they are careful not to explain that there is no longer an offset and you pay both your personal property tax and your income tax. They forget to tell you that the state formerly got 10 per cent of the local collections of income tax and that 30 per cent went to the county and municipality. Now the state takes 40 per cent instead of 10 and your local authorities must levy more local taxes to take the place of those the state now takes to the treasury at Madison."

"You also pay 2 cents for every gallon of gasoline you use. No I am in favor of the gasoline tax; I am sorry we did not begin getting that tax a little earlier, and we would have it Governor Blair had not vetoed it. 1923 the gas tax bill he signed in 1925."

MORE CANTELOPES COMING TO CITY

Northern Michigan Blueberries Reach Market Here This Week

A fresh shipment of Indiana cantelopes are expected on the Appleton market Saturday. These are the yellow type of melons. The cantelopes were selling from 10 to 35 cents each. There are still some Sturgeon Bay cherries on the market which are retailing at 20 cents a quart and $2.49 a case.

A shipment of blueberries from northern Michigan was received early this week and are selling at 25 cents a quart and $2.49 a case. One local fruit dealer sold 250 cases of blueberries last week. London blackberries are selling at 20 cents a quart. The berries are excellent in size and flavor and are suitable for canning purposes.

VANITY CASE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MRS. PRENTISS, who suffers from insomnia, sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night, and the next morning HARBOR GARDENS, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of PERRY, her husband.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN and BUNNY MOORE. Inman might have a motive because he is heir to Myra's considerable fortune, who having cut off her husband in her will. Supplerson also points to golden-haired, vivacious Bunny Moore, because of her refusal to answer questions at the inquest.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle that was the instrument of her death. Candles were burning at her head and feet when a maid discovered her body, and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and dressed with gay colors.

The strangest thing about Heath's disappearance is the fact that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunney and Inman are found on the bottle. A vanity case has strangely disappeared and physicians determine that the rouge was applied to Myra's face after death.

At the Country Club, the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the case, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Others, including Anderson, disagree. Cunningham, believing Bunney Moore is concealing something, calls on Mrs. Prentiss.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVI
Now, Al Cunningham was not an Adonis for looks, but he had an ingratiating way with him, which added to a discreetly flattering tongue, sometimes made astonishing inroads on the confidence of middle aged or elderly ladies.

He passed the Heath house, and smiling his most debonaire smile, he deliberately walked up the garden path and up a few steps of the porch of Mrs. Prentiss.

Toddy Buck looked round in surprise, then rose, to greet a supposed friend of his aunt.

But Mrs. Prentiss showed no recognition of the caller, and Cunningham, taking all on one bold move, held out his hand to her, as he said, "You'll forgive me, I know, when you hear what I've called about."

His smile faded and gave way to a mysterious air, and his lowered voice promised thrilling revelations.

Emily Prentiss couldn't resist this, and she gracefully bowed and pointed to a nearby chair, thus encouraged, Cunningham, thus encouraged, tactfully took Todhunter Buck also into his confidence, and began by saying:

"I'm Al Cunningham, a Gardens man, of course, and I saw you two at the inquest this afternoon. Mrs. Prentiss, I felt sure that you knew something about the affair but as you were not called upon, you couldn't—or didn't tell it."

"Well, I declare!" cried the astonished woman. "Now however did you guess that? Here I was just discussing with my nephew whether or no I ought to tell somebody, and along you come! It's just providential, that's what it is! You a detective, Mr. Cunningham?"

"Well, I am, but not a professional one. As a matter of fact, I'm a rank amateur, but I'm working in the interests of the country Club. Mr. Heath was a member, you know, and some of the men think they ought to look into the matter of his strange disappearance. And they've put the work rather more or less into my hands. So, as I said, I have a hunch you know something—oh, I beg your pardon, forgive the slang!"

"No harm at all," Mrs. Prentiss beamed on him. "My nephew here, used the most atrocious slang, so I'm used to it. Well sir, your hunch is a right one. I do know something, though whether it's of any account or not, I can't say. But seeing you are what you are, and sent out by the club and all, I don't see why I shouldn't tell you. In fact, I've told it before if I'd known who to tell. I don't altogether cotton to the police. They're so high and mighty, and they can take what you tell 'em, and then twist it all out of kilter until it's no use to them or anybody else."

"That's so, Mrs. Prentiss," Cunningham's voice was deeply sympathetic. "Now, if you care to tell me, I'll promise you the information will not be wasted."

"All right, I'll tell," Mrs. Prentiss detailed anew her watch of the night before. She told accurately and just as she had told her nephew at breakfast of the strange appearances, disappearances and reappearance of lights in the Heath studio.

"It is a most interesting story," Cunningham said, when she had finished. "And I am sure it is of the utmost importance. Were it only concerning the main lights of the room, it would be so peculiar, but the appearance of the two small sparks which were doubtless the candles left there, makes it all a strong piece of evidence, which, however, needs strengthening out and unraveling to get its meaning. Let us try, Mrs. Prentiss, to reconstruct the happenings. Keep check on me and tell me if I go wrong. Now, say the complete darkness at half-past eleven meant the family and servants had all retired."

"Yes, that's probably right."

"Well, then, say that when a dim light appeared perhaps half an hour later, some one came downstairs on a trifling errand,—for a book, or cigarettes or some such thing."

"Yes,—though that isn't very definite."

"Ah, you thought I would be one of those detectives who could deduce a man with a hooked nose and Van-dyke beard, with a slight limp and a cast in his left eye?"

Mrs. Prentiss laughed, appreciating the banter.

"Well, go on," she said.

"Well, the indefinite prowler came downstairs, snapped on a small light, maybe a desk light,—that wasn't the candle, was it?"

"No, I recollect the effect clearly. It was doubtless, as you suggest, a small desk light or reading lamp."

"Then, in a few moments comes another person, who flashes on the full lights of the room."

"Of course, though, it need not have been another person. It may well have been the first of the indefinable person, still hunting what he came after."

Right: You are a boom detective Mrs. Prentiss: Well, anyhow that big light stayed on till about one o'clock. That right?"

"Yes, as near as I remember the hours. Then the candles showed."

"Yes, and it was during the time of that big light,—between twelve and one o'clock, that Mrs. Heath was killed. Or, at least, that's the way I see it. For the candles were, in all probability, put in place to represent funeral candles. Now that must have been done after the lady was dead. Then, having arranged things to his satisfaction, the murderer came off the big light, and whether he left the house or not."

"But there were more lights on and off after that."

Little girl suffers five years from unusual skin trouble
Resinol relieves and heals

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 9.—"Sometime ago my little girl's whole body became dry and scaly. The skin where her shoes were laced and under her toes cracked open, which made it very painful. We were advised to keep her skin soft with a good cold cream or pure lard, and for five years I have spent many hours and used numerous half-pound cans of cold cream, but to no avail. As she grew older the trouble gradually became worse until I remembered that when she was a baby I had cured a bad case of eczema by using Resinol Soap and Ointment."

So for three weeks she has had no chaps, soaps on her skin and I cannot begin to tell you how much improvement has been made. Her feet are almost normal and the rest of her body is better than it has been for years. Up to this time I had never been able to bathe her oftener than was absolutely necessary, but now a bath with your wonderful soap actually makes her skin moist and rosy, whereas before, soap and water made her look and feel parched and dry even after a liberal application of grease."

(Signed) Mrs. Edwina Vanderleest, 1228 Alden St., N. E.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

TEMPTATION WINS

"Don't you worry over Lola Lawrence," said Madame Seria, when I explained I didn't want to add anything to her troubles if she had found out that there was something the matter with her voice. Lola's musical talent is just about right for light opera. It was never big enough for anything else."

"I began to thank Madame Seria effusively, but she stopped me immediately."

"Go ahead, child. Make these rich wasters pay for your voice if possible, but take my advice, don't be too easy. It's a game they love to play—and the girl who gives them the most for their money is the girl who will lose out everytime. I sometimes think they enjoy being circumvented by some smart gold-digger. Buddy Tremaine is a charming man and he is music-mad. But, having always had money, he thinks it will buy anything he wants."

"One can hardly blame him for this, for up to date to the outsider, it seems to do the trick."

"You're young, my dear. Much younger than Lola Lawrence, and in the clothes you will wear this afternoon, you will be beautiful—more beautiful than she. You have a freshness and a seeming innocence that Mr. Tremaine will find refreshing. It will delight him beyond measure. One seldom finds such girls as models nowadays."

"I think you can put the whole thing over, Mamie, without giving up too much. A kiss or two doesn't mean anything, you know."

"Above all else, keep your head. Don't fall in love with Buddy Tremaine. He can be kindness itself and he will be. He is comparatively young, very handsome and probably has the most fascinating personality in all the city. Every girl who is out for a sweetheart in town, has been after him."

"Remember what I've told you, my dear. If you let your heart go, you're lost. I'm only saying this to you because I believe you care more for music than anything else in the world. If I thought you were vain, I wouldn't take this trouble with you. But, my dear, I feel a great interest in you. With my help, and I will freely give it, I think you can make Buddy Tremaine do a good deed and even think of someone beside himself."

"Julie, we carried that plot through. Madame Seria herself saw that my frocks were on in just the right manner. She dressed my hair herself and left my face devoid of anything but a little powder. She said I did not need any make-up."

"I did my little stunt of singing as I was changing my gown and oh, how I welcomed the look of admiration in Buddy Tremaine's eyes as I came back in a different frock, the last cadence of the song just dying on my breath."

BROKEN PROMISE

Rich Composer Forgives Daughter for Ignoring Contract Not to Wed

Chicago — (AP) — Bohemian Kryl, wealthy composer has decided to acquiesce to love's obstinate way.

The composer who 10 years ago exacted a promise from his daughter Marie Kryl, a pianist of note, not to marry until she was 30, agreeing at the same time to reward her with $100,000 now is willing to assume the fatherly duty of giving her in marriage to the man of her choice.

When Miss Kryl announced her engagement to Spira Hadji-Kyriakos, wealthy Greek nobleman, the composer declared there would be no wedding.

Miss Kryl said Thursday that when her fiancé arrives in New York Aug. 28, her father and mother will be with her to welcome him and that "papa now insists that the ceremony be performed at 'The Castle,' at the Kryl mansion, Tarpon Springs, Florida.

She expects to forfeit nothing through breaking her promise, Miss Kryl said, declaring with a smile, that her trousseau shopping budget was being guided by assurances that she'd get the $100,000 after all, and more.

Several years ago another daughter, Josephine Kryl, well known as a violinist, who made a like agreement with her father, married Paul Taylor White the composer.

Members of Co. D, 15th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, will practice machine gunnery on the company's outdoor range Sunday, according to Captain E. F. Grundeman. Outside work was started just before the men left for camp and Sunday's practice will be a continuance. Firing and handling of the guns will be given special attention.

During the next two months machine gun and pistol work will be on the practice schedule on the outdoor range. Pistol shooting must be completed in October, Capt. Grundeman said.

APPLETON BOYS HAVE CHANCE FOR "TREASURE"

Baseballs Autographed By Some Big League Star Are Prizes In Voting Contest

Lads Hunt for Balls Signed by Player They Pick as Big League Favorite

Boys of Appleton: How would you like to own a big league baseball with the name of Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker or any other major league star written across it with his own hand? Say that's a thing many a man as old as 80, the real baseball fan, would prize as a keepsake and would show to his friends whenever possible, in fact many a grown man in this city is going to envy you boys in this chance. Many may even ask to take part in this opportunity to acquire such a famous ball. Briefly, boys, here's your chance to get a baseball autographed by a big league star for a little writing and a little searching, but it will have to be done quickly as the contest closes next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Appleton Post-Crescent, in cooperation with the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. is conducting a novel treasure hunt with the balls as the treasure. Boys of Appleton between the ages of 11 and 18 are asked to vote for their favorite major league ball player, whether in the American or National league. Ballots will be printed on the sport page of the Post-Crescent, Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. Fill these out and bring them either to the Post-Crescent editorial rooms or deposit them in a ballot box placed in the boys division of the Y. M. C. A.

The ballots will be counted and a letter will be sent to the ball player chosen by Appleton boys as their favorite, asking him to autograph eight or ten baseballs sent from here as his gifts to his admirers among Appleton boys.

When the balls are returned they will be kept until the opening day of the world's series, which will again be shown, play by play, on the Post-Crescent. After the opening game has been played on the Post-Crescent diamond, boys of the city who voted in the contest will assemble at a park or open space of the city. The balls, bearing the precious autographs, maybe Ruth, perhaps Johnson, will have been hidden in the park, in very good places so that the searching will have to be done with both eyes and head, only a short time before. At a signal the search will begin and "finder's keeper," any lad finding a ball, keeping it. After a boy has found one ball, he will be eliminated from the further searching. Officials will handle the search.

Because of the work of writing to the player, getting his answer and autographs on the balls in such a short time, the contest will close at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, so boys you'll have to step on it and get your entry in at once or you'll be out of luck for a chance at the treasure. Just fill out the blank on this page and take it to the Post-Crescent or Y. M. C. A. before Tuesday night. Jack Pugh, boys' work secretary of the association, is in charge of the boys' department part in the program and will handle most of the hunt.

GRID TUTORS

GORDON LOCKE, ABOVE, AND RAYMOND DAUBER.

These two former University of Iowa stars will have charge of football destined at Western Reserve, Cleveland, this fall. Locke was recently named head coach, while Dauber will act as his assistant. Locke was All-American quarterback a few years ago and played on that famous Hawkeye eleven which beat Yale at New Haven. Dauber gained most of his fame as a shot-putter on the track team.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

With only about five more games remaining on the Appleton valley league ball schedule the battle for the gold watch offered by the Kamps Jewelry Co. to the member of the local squad showing the highest batting average at the season's end has narrowed down to two men, with one or two others having an outside chance. At the beautiful prize, Manager Baetz and one of his youthful infielders, Cully Schultz, lead the van with a force and a number of games to go, probably won't be decided until the final tilt. Schultz is one of the best shortstops in the loop and his hitting has been good this year, while last year his work at third gave him a trial with the Brewers though his stickwork was weaker than this season. Priebke, Tornow and Ashman will have to get at least a pair of hits in the game Sunday, or they will be done altogether. Priebke got two last week and is the most likely third competitor for the watch.

The first two-named are the only Appleton players batting in the charmed 300 circle and the lead of the local club has alternated since the race began, one being just one place ahead of the other, with a percentage point or two difference in averages. Schultz led until Sunday by a narrow margin, but LaCrosse stopped him three times while his boss got two out of four to take a lead. The fight between the two is fierce and with a number of games to go, probably won't be decided until the final tilt. Schultz is one of the best shortstops in the loop and his hitting has been good this year, while last year his work at third gave him a trial with the Brewers though his stickwork was weaker than this season. Priebke, Tornow and Ashman will have to get at least a pair of hits in the game Sunday, or they will be done altogether. Priebke got two last week and is the most likely third competitor for the watch.

Frank Walsh, local pro golfer, should take the state open meet next year, if signs mean anything. Last year Frank took third with an amateur, Ned Allis, in second. This year, he was second, against an amateur coming in ahead, with Eustice Bock winning. By the laws of advancement he is slated for first next year.

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

TED RAY-DISTANCE WITH IRON CLUBS

Whilst it is erroneous to press when using the iron club, it is advisable to let the club go well through without too much hindrance and check, as checking will have the effect of shortening your distance. In the up-swing the right leg should be steady, while the left ought to move inward a trifle.

In the down-swing I generally contrive to make the club-head meet the ball just before the club has reached its lowest point, so that the effect is that the club, more or less, swoops down on the ball, though, at the same time, I always endeavor to get a certain amount of pitch into the stroke. Once the ball has flown away from the iron, the left leg should bear your weight. If you are confronted by a bunker, the use of the bunker is to make your ball, in a measure, emulate an aeroplane, and here I would suggest taking the stance rather in front of the ball, or by a more acute swing.

Occasionally an iron club will be found useful in the playing of the tee shot, and personally I believe in the use of a very small sand tee.

SCRAPPY NEENAH SQUAD HOST TO LOCALS SUNDAY

Team Which Staged Comeback to Beat Loop's Best Expects to Add Baetzmen

Neenah, the nemesis of the best squads of the Fox River valley league in the last three weeks, will play host to the Appleton club Sunday, confident of its fourth straight win and a rise to within a few points of fifth place. With a rejuvenated team, including three new stars, the Larson crew has beaten Oshkosh, the loop leader, Fond du Lac, second-place crew, and Green Bay, in third, in three straight tilts and expects to swamp Appleton on the home field before the home crowd.

Neenah and Appleton have long been rivals and the neighboring city has been forced to sit back and take two defeats from the Baetzmen this year, while unable to win a game. Nixon, star Neenah slabster, is the class of the loop, but until three weeks ago had little fielding or batting help from his mates. Now with a snappy crew behind him, he expects to take the measure of every team in the league, one after the other, and in spite of a bad start land his team in at least fourth place ahead of Kimberly and Appleton.

Smith, Weissgerber and Jerry, new additions to the Larson lineup have been playing great ball while Domrowski, who picked Crove's offerings for two homers in the first game between the teams, has been reinstated and is going better than ever. Madison poked out two homers against Fondy, the final winning game in the last frame when it traveled clear to center field fence. The other also was inside the park. He always is a dangerous batter, especially in a pinch. Nixon, himself, got two hits two weeks ago and four in a row last week.

Sternagel, who held Neenah to two singles and a few rocks ago, probably will try his wares again on the Larsonites, but he will see plenty of new faces in action. Schultz and Baetz will continue their slugging battle and Boyle, a new player will be given a chance to strengthen the local slugging. Bent and Priebke also will appear in the outfield with the regular infield of Radtke, Tornow, Schultz and Goslin in action. Red Ashman will don the mask and mitt.

Oshkosh and Green Bay will clash at the Bay in a game which means much to the Bayites. A win will give them a slight chance at the pennant while a loss will just about make it sure for Noel's crew. A win also will give them a good chance for the second job. Noel, however, seems to have the Indian sign on the Bays. He beat them twice this year, once with a no-hit, no-run win, and adding a few-hit victory.

At Fond du Lac, Kimberly will strive to put the Farismon behind the Bays and out of the race, while they themselves pull away from Neenah and drop, Appleton down below the Cooke crew, in case of an Appleton loss to Neenah.

One tough sand trap, which cost him four strokes and made him take seven for the hole, lost him the title, in the opinion of golf experts, who lauded his fine play. Incidentally he lost the meet by just four strokes and Bock had to take a 71 on the final round to cop.

What will practically be the deciding game of the Twilight loop will be played Monday evening, when the Legion loop leaders hit the Y. M. C. A. second-place crew. At present the Legion men hold a nice lead, but the Triangles have a few postponed games on their schedule so that it doesn't mean so much. However, if the Soldiers can trounce their closest rival and shove it down a full notch with only a short distance left to go, the chances will be practically even in the last tilt the Triangles came back in the final frames to win over the Legion. Indications are that they will put one of the best teams of the season on the field in the final effort. Lutz, who has been gone, Edie Kotal, Jake Zussman and possibly Pete Briese will be seen in action. All are on the Triangle list.

Bob Rose, varsity center at Ripon for three years, has signed his contract to play with the Packers. Rose was rated as one of the best snapper backs in the Little Five. Rose was one of Coach Doehling's best bets in 1915. During his high school days, he made a great record at Shawano. His work in the Lawrence game last fall was outstanding.

With Kotal in the lineup the team is the best in the city. He is a classy shortstop, missing few hard ones, a good hitter and bunter and a speed demon on the paths, liable to upset an entire infield if they throw the ball to catch him stealing. The Triangles lost a large amount of ground in the pennant chase, when the "weak" Post-Crescent crew beat them in starting a comeback after a five-game losing streak. Then the P-C men whipped the Bankers.

Kotal, singlehanded, beat the P-C out of the loop pennant last year, playing with three teams against the crew, and playing a big part in victories by the weak squads over the Sternagelmen. He ran wild on the sacks. Looks like he may do the same against the Legion.

Tunney Won Honors As Best Light Heavyweight Scrapper Among Uncle Sam's Soldiers

Gene Was Tramping Side-walks, Out of Work, When First Big Chance Came

This is the second of a series of articles by Joe Williams, fistic expert of NEA Service, Inc., dealing with the life story of Gene Tunney, challenger for the heavyweight title.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Over in France Gene Tunney was a success both as a fighting soldier and a soldier fighter. He saw action at Belleau Wood, and, in the less tempestuous phases of the expedition, he saw action in the Paris prize rings.

When the A. E. F. athletic carnival was arranged for at Pershing stadium, Tunney was selected to represent his outfit in the light-heavyweight division. This selection was not altogether pleasing to him.

"I wasn't yet sold on myself as a fighter with the gloves," Tunney admits. "I wasn't particularly keen about going down there and getting messed around and making my outfit look bad."

Tunney was turned over to Mike O'Dowd for training and handling. Mike was the middleweight champion of the world at the time and was one of those hard-boiled, plugged mastentors who "ain't got no use for the swells now."

"O'Dowd, Tunney was a swell. Did he wash his teeth twice a day? Didn't he use powder after shaving? Didn't he read poetry? Didn't he talk about Congress? And worst of all, didn't he say 'absolutely, Michael'?"

Huh! Imagine that. "Absolutely, Michael!" Why couldn't he be human and say, "Sure Mike?" Well Mike and Tunney didn't get along for more than a day or so. "You train yourself," growled Mike. "The pleasure will be all mine, Michael," responded Tunney.

So the two went their respective ways. Tunney proceeded to train, and condition himself in the manner he thought best. Before the A. E. F. carnival proper got under way Tunney was matched with Bob Martin, a husky West Virginia youth in Paris. Tunney got the decision.

This victory made Tunney, although weighing only 160 pounds, the outstanding favorite among the big fellows in the soldier champion-chips-and-there-is-little-doubt-that he would have won the heavyweight honors had he been permitted to fight in that division.

But the regulations of the tournament restricted his activities to the light-heavyweight division. Tunney had no trouble winning this title. His victim in the finals was Ted Jamieson. Meanwhile, Martin went on to win the heavyweight title.

Passing years have established Tunney as the best fighter developed in the service. The best by far.

Martin returned from overseas with an energetic ballyhoos in the person of Jimmy Bronson, who "circled" him from one end of the country to the other.

Bronson was instrumental in launching a vigorous campaign against Jack Dempsey on grounds of slackerism. The purpose of which was to crush Dempsey in public esteem and automatically elevate Martin, with his war record, to a commanding position among the heavyweights.

Martin enjoyed a limited vogue. He had a fine right-hand punch and was game. Bronson made plenty of money for and with him. Martin's most impressive gesture was made in the Madison Square Garden fight when he fought and whipped Bill Brennan. The records do not show that he won the decision but he whipped him just the same.

How They Stand

Paris, was pounding the streets of New York looking for a job. "I didn't want to be a fighter," explains Tunney. "I wanted to go into business. I was willing to take my old job back and at the same money. Willing? Say, I was eager."

But Tunney's experiences in this regard were not unlike those of many other young men who had gone into the big fuss. It wasn't so easy to get the old job back. Indeed, it wasn't so easy to get any sort of a job.

"One day I bumped into Billy Roche, the veteran referee," relates Tunney. "I had just finished scanning the want ads in the Times and was getting ready to make my daily tour of offices and factories."

"Roche had been overseas as physical director and had seen the fight. 'You're just the guy I'm looking for,' chirped Billy. 'I've got a fight for you and there's 100 berries it it.'"

SUNDAY GAMES

DePere at Freedom.
Combined Locks at Wrightstown.
Onida at Little Chute.

Every battle in the Intercounty ball loop on Sunday is of great importance to the two teams playing, as the four first teams, all within a game and a half of the top, are headed to meet, while the two cellar squads battle to come out of the rut. Freedom and Combined Locks, the high teams, meet Wrightstown and DePere, next in line and Little Chute and DePere clash in the cellar series.

The Lockmen invade Wrightstown in an effort to take the top at the expense of the home boys. The home crew will be fighting to regain its place near the top of the heap, lost by last Sunday's game. It can do this by beating the Locks crew, which is above it. First place will be at stake when DePere invades Freedom, home of the loop-leaders. A DePere win will tie it with the leaders for the top or second, if the Lockmen win DePere will battle hard to make the grade with the home boys fighting equally hard to stay on top. At Little Chute the Indians and the Chuteers will battle to break a cellar tie and gain on the leaders.

At present but a game and a half separates the first four teams. Combined Locks in second, is a half game behind first, DePere in third is a half game from second and one from the top, and Wrightstown, next in line, is a half game from third, a full game from second and one and a half from the top. Three teams have a chance at the top by one day's struggles.

BUCKS WHIP BREWERS BUT KERS ALSO LOSE

Milwaukee-Eut for Lefty Kuchel, Senators and the Kentucky Kernels the Brewers would almost be "in." The damage that the champions have done is common knowledge; but the labors of Lefty Kuchel are not so well known. It was Kuchel that knocked the Home Brewers out of the lead less than a month ago at Columbus, Ky. Thursday, had he had some help from the Colonels, would have turned the job again. Lefty snatched the drooping Senators into a 5 to 3 victory, but the champions also lost, leaving Milwaukee still at the head of the procession.

He said he was not considering making Carey manager.

FLOWERS WHIPS GREB TO HOLD MIDDLE CROWN

Comeback of Former Titlist in Final Rounds Almost Turns Tide of Defeat

New York-(AP)—Tiger Flowers, Atlanta Negro, remains middleweight boxing champion of the world, after a sensational 15-round struggle with the man from whom he took the crown, Harry Greb of Pittsburgh. Flowers made good his defense in Madison Square Garden Thursday night before 15,000 persons but did not receive the unanimous vote of the officials. Referee, Jimmy Crowley, favored Greb.

In far better condition than the night he lost the championship last February in the same ring, Greb was credited by newspapermen with capturing six of the fifteen rounds while eight went to Flowers and one was even. A smashing offensive which had the Negro in trouble in the last two rounds probably drew the vote of the referee.

Flowers carried the attack to his opponent from the start, but Greb countered with stiff blows to the head and several times rushed the champion to the ropes. Both went to the floor during the fight after wrestling about.

Cuts were opened over Greb's eyes. His body was a target for the champion's straight shots. The challenger's last minute rush was the old "windmill" attack without the cutting drive it was wont to carry. Flowers weighed 159 1/2 and Greb 159.

GOSLIN HAS CHANCE TO TAKE YEAR'S BAT CROWN

"Goose" Goslin, Washington's great fence-buster, is having one of his best seasons. The "Goose" has been hitting the ball harder and more consistently than ever this year. He stands a good chance of bagging the American League swat crown.

4 NEW TRAFFIC

SIGNALS ERECTED

ON COLLEGE-AVE

Signals Will Be Given 15-day Trial for Public to Judge Merits of System

Four new traffic light signals, mounted on cast iron posts painted yellow, were erected at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st, Thursday and Friday. They were installed by the Art-Killgren Electric Co. of this city, one of the two firms from which new signals for that intersection probably will be purchased. The other firm is the Langstad Electric Co. also of Appleton.

Both submitted bids for the signals to the common council Wednesday evening, but the council decided to take no action until after the signals of both firms have been given a trial. The council consequently ordered a 15-day trial.

The signals now in place will be left there for 15 days. At the end of this period, during which time the public as well as the officials will judge the merits of the system, they will be removed and those of the Langstad Electric Co. will be erected for a similar period.

The signals conform in every respect to the recommendation of the Wisconsin Highway commission. They are painted yellow as are the supporting posts and there are three signs on each signal equipped with colored lights to direct traffic. The "go" sign, which is a green light, is located at the extreme top. The amber sign, with the word "caution," is in the middle, and the "stop" sign, which of course appears in red lights, is at the extreme bottom.

The timing of the signals can be set at will, and can be changed in a minute by a traffic officer by means of a general control switch located at the northwest corner of the intersection.

If the officer desires, he may turn on the stop signals on all four lights at once, as in case of fire.

The signal system is being changed because of the unsatisfactory service given by the old system. It was constantly in need of repair, the motor which operated the system burned out several times, and the wiring was very temporary. It needed repairs and constant installation would have cost the city more than the purchase of new signals, and the council held the latter course to be the wisest. Installation of a new system will cost approximately $1,000.

YOUTH CAN'T TELL HOW HIS FACE WAS BATTERED

Edward Behrens, 24, R. R. 2, Medford, was mysteriously injured about 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

The young man had left the home of his parents and gone to a near field to bring in a group of work horses. A short time later, the young man came staggering into the house and fainted before he could tell what had happened.

He was badly cut about the side of the head and face and one ear was badly cut. He was rushed to a doctor for treatment.

The doctor advised the parents to take the young man to St. Elizabeth hospital. The young man was examined by physicians and was found not to be in a serious condition. He regained consciousness late in the afternoon but was unable to account for his injuries.

It is thought that he either was kicked by a horse or else fell and one of the horses stepped on him.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

An application for a marriage license was made Thursday at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, by William Zinke, route 2, Black Creek, and Alice Holz, route 2, Black Creek.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits authorizing construction of two garages at an estimated cost of $2,150 were issued Thursday by Walter Zschaechener, building inspector. The permits were granted to Theodore Thomas for a garage on N. Bates-st. and C. J. Smith for a garage at 425 W. Winnebago-ave.

Catches Big Perch

CREDITORS MEET AGAIN

TO SELECT TRUSTEE

Creditors of Earl F. Weaver, Elcho bankrupt, were to meet Friday afternoon at Antigo courthouse to elect a trustee. Appraisers also were to be appointed. C. E. Behnke of Appleton, referee in bankruptcy, left Friday morning for Antigo to conduct the meeting. The creditors met here at Mr. Behnke's office Monday afternoon but were unable to agree on a trustee.

TO EXTEND CANDEE-ST THROUGH TO LIMITS

Work of extending Candee-st from Weaver-st to the city limits was undertaken this week. The new section will be graded and prepared for cindering, although it may be several weeks before the cinders are laid as none are obtainable now. The extension is about 655 feet long.

Unless arrangements are made immediately, it is hardly likely that the surface of east end of E. Colledge-ave will be repaired this year.

Residents of the street have expressed their desire to have the roadway resurfaced. The wooden blocks have become misplaced and as a result the surface of the street has become exceedingly rough.

PERSONALS

FOUR GREEN BAY DENTISTS LOSE GOLD TO THIEVES

Police Believe Chicago Gang Is Making "Tour" of Wisconsin Cities

Appleton police Friday morning received a message from Thomas E. Hawley, chief of police at Green Bay, which stated that four dental offices in Green Bay were entered Sunday by burglars, who obtained $250 in gold and a gold watch.

A newspaper account in Green Bay estimates the total loss of dentists in that city at more than $500. Two of the four dentists did not report their losses until Wednesday morning. Dr. J. S. Cohn was the heaviest loser. The thieves took gold bullion valued at about $200 from a cabinet in his office and a bench in his laboratory, while from another drawer they stole gold bridges and other forms, valued at $250. A revolver was also taken from a holster, although a second gun was not disturbed. Gold valued at $15 and $25 was taken from the tabernacle of Dr. W. W. Townsend, the second Green Bay dentist who reported his loss Wednesday.

Police here believe that the Green Bay burglaries were committed by the same gang which robbed five dental offices here between Saturday noon and Monday morning. It is believed that professional thieves, probably from Chicago, are "touring" the district during this season when many dentists are on vacations and entering the offices during the weekend period.

BLAINE ASSAILS LENROOT RECORD

Says Government Is Endangered by "Orgy of Corruption"

Milwaukee—(P)—The United States is endangered from within the "orgy of corruption" at Washington and from without by "foreign entanglements," Governor John J. Blaine declared in a speech here Thursday night.

"My opponents has met neither of these issues," he said.

The orgy of corruption that has prevailed at Washington in the last six years threatens the perpetuity of our government. My opponent has given a weak excuse for his visit to Mr. Fall, the bribe taker of one hundred thousand dollars. He has offered no excuse and made no defense for his close contact with Mr. Fall. All that he got out of his secret visit to Mr. Fall was a letter that lied about the one hundred thousand dollar bribe. "He hasn't explained why he became one of the spokesmen of former Attorney General Daugherty now under indictment for conspiracy to cheat our government. He hasn't explained why he voted to confirm the nomination of Charles E. Warren as Attorney General, who was the agent and lobbyist for the Sugar Trust. He has made no satisfactory answer for having voted to confirm the sale of the seat in the United States Senate purchased by Newberry at the confessed price of one hundred and ninety five thousand dollars."

WARN NORDMAN TO KEEP OUT OF POLITICAL RACE

Milwaukee—Charging that Governor Blaine is using the bureau of markets as a publicity agency through which to promote his campaign for the United States senate, E. C. Jacobs, president of the Lenroot for Senator State Agricultural club, declared that the published statement of Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, to the effect that a tariff on dairy products was of no value to the farmers was an attempt to align the butter and cheese producers of Wisconsin with the free traders of the East. "If Mr. Nordman would attend to the duties of his office instead of trying to show that the farmers of Wisconsin could successfully compete without tariff protection, with the under paid workers of Europe, he would be more appreciated by the dairymen of Wisconsin," said Mr. Jacobs. "The farmers of Europe are satisfied with a financial reward for their services which would not pay the gasoline bill of a substantial dairyman in Wisconsin."

ENGEL GETS CONTRACT FOR HEATING PLANT

The heating contract for the $40,000 addition to First Baptist church was awarded to John A. Engel, Appleton, at a meeting of the building committee Thursday evening at the office of Smith and Brandt, architects. Another meeting of the committee will be held early next week. The finance committee has succeeded in making loans sufficient to pay for all construction, according to the Rev. E. M. Salter, pastor, and a campaign to raise funds is to be started at once. Excavation for the cellar of the addition will be completed this week, by George Ashman, general contractor.

Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, won referee's decision over Ted Blatt, St. Paul (10).

New York—(P)—K. O. (Phil) Kaplan, New York middleweight, knocked out Dick Evans, Philadelphia (2).

Dance to Marquette Music Masters. Hortonville, Tonight.

CHILD FALLS OUT OF WINDOW; BREAKS LEG

Emmett McMorrow, 14-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James McMorrow, Kaukauna, suffered a broken right leg about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning when he fell from a second story window at the home of his parents, dropping 15 feet to the ground. The leg was broken just above the ankle. The child is confined to its home.

The boy was taking a nap in the room in which the windows are equipped with screens which open outward. Mrs. McMorrow had shaken rugs at the window and had gone about her household work leaving the screen unfastened. The child woke up, crept to the window and climbed out, falling to the ground below.

CARDS WITHIN 4 POINTS OF LEAD

Win for Hornsby as Bucs Split Cuts Down Topnotchers; Macks Tie Tribe

The St. Louis Cardinals Friday were only four points behind the Pirates, leading the National League. Fourteen safe punches gave the Cardinals a 6-2 conquest over Brooklyn Thursday. It was Sherdel's sixth victory over the Dodgers in seven starts. With his eight-hit pitching he threw in a double and single.

Pittsburgh could do not better than gain an even break with Philadelphia, losing the first, 3 to 1, and taking the second, 4 to 0. A home run by Nixon in the tenth of the opening contest, downed the Pirates. The granted only four hits in the shutout.

Chicago returned to power in the struggle for fourth position by turning back the Giants, 2 to 1, on four safeties. Blake permitted ten blows but they caused little damage.

The Boston Red Sox recorded their six straight victory beating Chicago, 1 to 0, when Hunsicker erred in the seventh after Jacobson's double.

The Philadelphia Athletics went into a tie with Cleveland for second place in the American League when Gray and Willis gave Detroit a home run and three singles. The score was 9-1 and Frank O'Rourke, seldom classed as a slugger, was the man who made the circuit blow. Metzler who has replaced the suspended Al Simmons in the Mack outfield produced three hits, all singles.

Chicago, Ill.—Midget Smith, New York bantamweight, and Archie Bell, also of New York, boxed a draw (10).

Cleveland—Johnny Dato, Cleveland featherweight won a newspaper decision over Willie Ames, Akron (10).

14 Letter Wearers Among 75 Gridders Ordered To Report At Camp Randall

Little and Eight Assistants Form All-star Coach Staff; Start Work Sept. 15

Madison—Seventy-five Wisconsin football men will report at Camp Randall stadium Sept. 15 in answer to an early call of Head Coach George Little. Invitations have been mailed with warnings to all candidates for the 1926 Varsity eleven to condition at once.

In Lieb, Uteritz, Blaik, Sundt, Slaughter, Brader, Holmes and McAndrews. Coach Little has gathered about him one of the best staffs in the country. The Wisconsin pilot realizes only too well the task that his 1926 schedule presents. It is the stiffest slate tackled by a Badger football team in years. It is the stiffest slate tackled by a Badger football team in years, including six conference contests, with no open dates. Kansas, too, may be looking upon as worthy a foe.

Although the Cardinal entry in the coming grid campaign will be improved over last year, Coach Little is making no predictions for a title. With fifteen of Michigan's wonder team returning, Fielding Yost will have a great edge on all comers. The Gophers also bolstered by a host of "M" wearers, 17 in all, will be a stumbling block for most aspirants.

However, the Badgers will have a fighting aggregation in the running, and will be heard from until the curtain rings down on the season at Chicago. A great deal will depend upon the number of men available for regular service, for the 1926 schedule will demand a high grade of ball from approximately thirty players to assure a good position in the standing column.

Fourteen "W" men will be on hand at 9:30 A. M. on Sept. 15, when the initial roll is called. Of this group five are backs, two are ends and seven are linemen.

The 75 candidates aspiring for berths on the Cardinal eleven may be classified as follows: 7 quarterbacks, 16 halfbacks, 7 fullbacks, 14 ends, 17 tackles, 16 guards and 8 centers. This number includes four reserve letter men from 1925, and several others from this squad.

The new roster will not include ten gridders who wore the Cardinal a year ago. The loss of such men as Capt. Steve Polaski, Paul Nelson, Bull Stipek, Leo Harmon and Harry McAndrews will be deeply felt, as these men contributed their shares and more toward placing Wisconsin near the top of the Big Ten column. McCormick, Long, Sauer and Blackman will be among the missing.

The invitations were mailed to those men who competed on the varsity last fall, outstanding performers on the frosh eleven, all-American squad, members of the four-year coaching course and the leading lights of the Army-Navy three game series that brought to a close the successful spring training period.

Captain Doyle Harmon, Rollie Barnum, Bob Kreuz, Toad Crofoot and Stan McGiveran compose the quintette of veteran backs to report for the initial drill next month. Naturally the Badger leader, Harmon, will have first call on one of the half-back posts. He is a reliable ball carrier, a good passer and accurate drop-kicker, as was well established a year ago.

Stan McGiveran, returning after a year's absence from the gridiron, will push all comers for the other half position. He has the weight to hit the line and his track activities have given him the valuable asset to a large man of speed. Crofoot, who developed into a very dependable field general for his first season of conference ball, will be much improved. He is a cool, brainy pilot and sure when receiving punts.

In Bob Kreuz and Rollie Barnum, Coach Little is well fortified at full-back, although the latter may be shoved over to a half because of the number of new fullback candidates on the roster.

Barnum will undoubtedly be in the game most of the time either at half or full, as he is the best punter on hand. Rollie became a consistent ground gainer near the close of the 1925 season. Kreuz, brother of the famous Penn back, is a smashing back who can always smash the line for a few yards and is valuable defensively.

Marnette's giant fullback, Joe Kresge, must not be overlooked by the old men, however. His work in the Army-Navy spring football drills assured him a berth on one set of regular backs. Coach Little will be extremely fortunate in having a high type of quarterback coming up from the Frosh ranks this fall in the person of Gene Rose, Racine. This soph is slippery in the open and a heady player. Another corner in this department is Earl Burbridge, Chicago.

Among the likely halfback prospects we find such products as Ray Bartlett, LaGrange, Illinois; Harold Van Horn, Milwaukee; Don Barr, St. Cloud, Minn.; Frank Shaw, Oak Park, Ill.; and Art Mansfield, Cleveland, Ohio. These boys are all varsity calibre, and because of the strenuous 1926 schedule, all will likely see action. Bartlett was a 1925 reserve, and is especially clever in slipping off tackle and running the ends. Van Horn is the most accurate Badger back at long and short passing.

JENSEN OF MENASHA

Barr is also a good passer and shows promise of becoming a reliable interformer. Mansfield, a fast, husky sophomore, was one of the Frosh team's outstanding stars, and may be used in the line also. Shaw, All-Cook-co back when performing with Oak Park high is a ten second man and a pretty runner in the open, although a bit handicapped in size and weight. Other possibilities in the backfield are I. J. Breckenfield, Racine; Paul Curtis, Wauwatosa; Muegge, Hall, Hawley, E. G. Jensen of Menasha, Luebkmann, Orcutt, Powers, Mazurek and Musolf, a Fendy boy.

The pivot position will be well cared for by two vets, Earl Wilke and John Wilson, although Ray Wagner, St. Paul, and Charles Horwitz, Milwaukee's all-city center, are just cause to worry the old timers. The manner in which Wilke nursed the ball through the blitzard at Iowa last fall gives him first call. Wilson played in most of the games, alternating with Wilke, and is a dependable guardian of the pigskin. Horwitz may be tried at guard, as Little has some other center timber in the form of M. F. Schweers and J. Krug.

Jeff Burrus and Don Cameron will guard the extremities of the line, judging from their apt receiving of passes and otherwise brilliant end play last year. Two LaCrosse boys, Mike Welch and Bob Engiske will understudy the pair. This combination were the regular frosh wingmen on Sundt's yearling eleven. Racine claims a good end prospect in Harold Stupp-ecy.

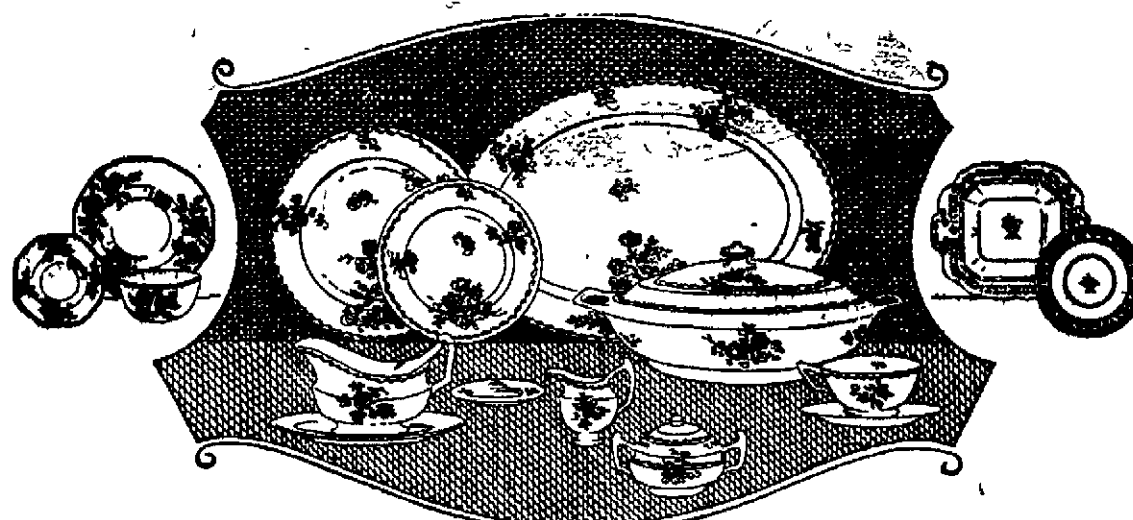

NEENAH BOY OUT

Linecoach Tom Lieb will start with three experienced men at tackle—Austin Straubel, Bob Kasiska and Butch Leitl. This trio of hard working forwards will be difficult to displace, and afford a nucleus around which the new line coach may build. Crowding these men for their positions will be a host of giant youngsters, namely: J. J. Kurth of Madison, John Godstein, also a local boy; Stanley Binisch, Green Bay; Karl Hagermeister, of the same city; Ivaux Anderson, Neenah, and A. C. Backus, Milwaukee.

A pair of intelligent, fighting guards will report this fall and make it difficult for all comers in this line. These "W" wearers are Lloyd Larson and George VonBremer, who so successfully operated in the center of the forward wall a year ago. Close on their heels will be Paul Scheutte, frosh captain, who received his early training playing fullback and guard at Lake Forest Academy. Badger fans look upon Scheutte as a great find. Forman, of Milwaukee, is a good guard, while other possibilities are Riviera, Fond du Lac and Horwitz, mentioned above for a center berth. Other members of the 75 are Francis Green, Robert Carney, Wallace Bachner, Elmer Christensen, R. E. Wagner, G. R. Connor, Tom Fortney, K. H. Conway, Donald Mullen, Hugo Kuchitau, Rudy La Salle, William Spices, Robert Pabst and Vern Taylor.
